Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

MILWAUKEE — The Rev. James E. Groppi, the Roman Catholic priest leading civil rights demonstrations in Milwaukee, denouncing city aldermen: "Some day Christ is going to appear before the aldermen in black skin and he is going to say, 'I needed a home and you would not let me in—burn in hell!'"

DETROIT — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, telling newsmen how negotiations with auto industry officials were going prior to the scheduled strike tonight at Ford Motor Co.: "I think in all honesty that we have to report to you that we are really just marking time."

MONTOOMERY, Ala. — Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace, commenting on a restraining order issued by a three-judge federal court preventing enforcement of a new state law which would have allowed school classes to choose the race of their teachers: "I want the people of Alabama to know that the federal judges issued a temporary injunction . . . without serving any complaints on us and without giving us the right to be heard."

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Mrs. Mary Louis Rogers, chaparrone of Miss Texas at the Miss America Pageant, telling newsmen about her anxiety when she saw a gull take Miss Texas' pink leotards and pink ballet slippers and fly away: "I am a first-time chaparrone and have tried so hard to do everything perfectly."

A Bible Thought For Today

God be merciful to me a sinner. — Luke 18:13. We all need God's forgiveness. Humility that recognizes our own sin is the first step toward new goodness.

by United Press International. Today is Wednesday, Sept. 6, the 249th day of 1967 with 116 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

Born on this day in 1960 was American social worker Jane Adams.

On this day in history: In 1620, 149 pilgrims set sail from England for the New World.

In 1901, President McKinley was shot and critically wounded at Buffalo, New York. He died on Sept. 14.

In 1960, word was received that Admiral Robert Peary had discovered the North Pole five months earlier and critically wounded active duty, what are the limits of the Death Statute and who receives it?

A — The benefit is a sum equal to six months' pay of the deceased. However, it shall not be less than $500, nor more than $10,000. It is paid to the surviving spouse, child or children unless the serviceman has designated his parents, brothers or sisters.

Q — I have remarried and my present husband has adopted my daughter. Thus she is not an orphan. Since her father died from injuries sustained in World War II, is she entitled to training under the War Orphans Assistance program?

A — Yes. Her eligibility is based on the fact that her parents died from service-connected causes. Subsequent adoption does not affect this original eligibility.

Q — I am receiving a pension as a widow of a veteran, and for our two children. I am considering marrying again and I would like to know if this would result in the loss of this pension?

A — Only that portion that is payable as your benefit would be stopped. Benefits would continue to be paid to you on behalf of your children. Children do not lose their rights to pension when the widow remarries or dies. They will continue to receive pension until age 18 or if attending a VA-approved school, until age 23.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE

Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture
Frankfort

Swine producers in Central Kentucky will have an opportunity to compete for $2,000 in premiums at the annual Central Kentucky Barrow Show and Carcass Contest September 12-14, Commissioner of Agriculture Wendell P. Butler reports. The show will be held at the Taylor County Fairgrounds in Campbellsville.

This show is one of three sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture for Kentucky swine producers. It is open to farmers throughout the State, but exhibitors can only participate in one district show each calendar year.

Singles classes will be offered for both commercial and purebred barrows with divisions for youth exhibitors as well as adults. In the pen of three competition, barrows or gilts may be entered.

Dr. Frank Beck, associate professor of animal sciences at the University of Kentucky will be the judge of the on-foot classes. Dr. York Varney, also from the University of Kentucky, will judge the carcasses. Klauer of Kentucky will slaughter the animals and prepare them for the contest. Each exhibitor will be required to have at least one animal in the carcass contest.

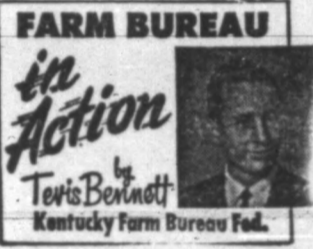

Commenting on the show, Wendell Bruce, director of the Department's Division of Shows and Fairs, said he expects another successful event this year.

"We have many outstanding breeders in Central Kentucky," he stated, "and they have always supported the show at Campbellsville. While we like for exhibitors to participate in the particular show located in their district, we are always glad to have good animals regardless from what area they come."

Bruce went on to say "these shows are popular with breeders in that they provide a situation whereby their production can be evaluated. They can see their animals judged live and then see how they measure out in the carcass contest. This is important because the farmer can readily see whether or not he is producing animals which will yield well."

No advance registration is needed in order to participate in the show. Farmers desiring additional information can contact their county agent or vocational agricultural teacher. Maurice Oppock, Taylor County High School, is chairman of the show committee.

The University of Kentucky Extension Service and the Division of Vocational Agricultural Education of the Department of Education cooperate with the Department of Agriculture in sponsoring the district shows.

Farm Bureau Day at the State Fair, August 23, was highly successful again this year.

The day began with registration and first eliminations in the Rural Gospel Quartet Contest. Eight county quartets entered competition this year. They were from Carlisle, Franklin, Hardin, Lincoln, Livingston, Marshall, Trimble and Washington Counties. The three finalists were from Lincoln, Franklin and Hardin Counties. In the afternoon finals, during Farm Bureau Day activities in the Stadium, Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center, the Lincoln County Quartet won the Rural Gospel Quartet Contest.

The Ray C. Sharpe family of the Sharpe Shorthorn Farm, Georgetown, won the annual Kentucky Blue Ribbon Farm Family Contest sponsored by the Louisville Chamber of Commerce. This was part of the Farm Bureau Day activities. The runner-up for the second consecutive year was the Charlie Perry Harlow family of Route 8, Glasgow.

Henry Fischer, Jr., chairman of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee, made the presentation to the winner and runner-up families. Fischer is division manager, farm store department, of Sears Roebuck and Company, Louisville.

Also during the activities in the Stadium, the 4-H Safety Demonstration Award, sponsored by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Company and the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, and the Safest Farm Family in Kentucky were presented. These winners had been announced previously.

The Kentucky Safest Farm Family was the Rollin Gardner family of route 2, Greensburg. The Safety Demonstration Award winner was John Wideman, Simpson County.

Christian County Farm Bureau won first place in attendance mileage with 15,170 attendance miles. Second place went to Larue County with 15,120 attendance miles. This award is given to the county compiling the most miles from the county to the State Fair. The winner received a trip for two to the American Farm Bureau convention in Chicago in December.

Total number of counties attending the Fair on Farm Bureau Day was 97.

ROMANCE is over between Lynda Bird Johnson and actor George Hamilton. It is reported, and she has been dating Marine Capt. Charles Robb, 28, with whom she is shown at Rehoboth Beach, Del. He's White House aide.

NEW ACCD STAFF MEMBERS—Appointment of two new staff members was announced in Washington by President Johnson's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. They are Victor H. Palmieri (left), Los Angeles investment company executive, to be deputy director of the commission, and Merle M. McCurdy, U.S. district attorney in Cleveland since 1961, to be general counsel.

Denver Broncos Come Of Age As They Cut Down To Limit

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

The Denver Broncos have really come of age—they've reached the point where they can even snub all-star players from Notre Dame. With Notre Dame having produced more professional football players than any other college, it's quite rare when one of its number is cut by a pro club, especially one as prestigious as the Denver Broncos.

But that's exactly what happened Tuesday when the Broncos cut down to the American Football League player limit of 40 by releasing Goedecke and four other players.

Goedecke, a 6-3, 240-pounder, was Denver's third-round choice in this year's common draft between the AFL and the National Football League and came from Notre Dame with some impressive notices. He received second team United Press International All-America honors last season while helping the Irish to a 9-0-1 season and was a member of the College All-Star team which lost to the Green Bay Packers last month.

The Broncos, who are a vastly improved team this season, obviously thought the former Irish star was lacking in certain departments and thus asked waivers on him along with rookies Frank Richter of Georgia and Errol Friday of Cincinnati and veterans Jon Hoffman and Ray Kubala.

There were also several established stars who found out Tuesday their services were no longer required.

Smockey Stover, an eight-year veteran who had played in every one of the Kansas City Chiefs' games, was placed on waivers while place-kicker Booth Luster of Buffalo and Tommy Brooker of Houston were also pared from their respective squads after having built strong reputations for themselves around the league.

Others cut from the Kansas City squad were veterans Bob Kelly and Denny Biodrowski and rookies Billy Masters and Ron Zvermann. Houston drafted Mickey Sutton, Allen Trammell, Theo Viltz, Dennis Duran, George Allen and George Fintz, in addition to Brooker, while Buffalo released Tom Rhoads, another Notre Dame product, and Jack Spikes. The Bills also acquired center Wayne Prater from Kansas City.

Waivers Add Receiver
Oakland chopped its list down to 40 by asking waivers on Tom Mitchell, Dainard Paulson and Pervis Atkins, cutting Glenn Bass and releasing Lionel Taylor. The Raiders picked up receiver Dave Kocourek from Miami.

San Diego placed four men on "waived-injured" to reach the limit. They were linebacker John Baker, defensive back Nas Wisnawski, defensive end Ron Billingsley and flanker Steve Newell. Miami put veteran defensive end Dan LaRosa, rookie Kai Anderson, George Chesser and veteran defensive end Bob Ferlich on waivers and put Tom Monahan and Tom Erlandson on injury waivers. The New York Jets dropped Allen Smith and rookies Tommy Barnett and John Elliott.

While NFL teams have another week to get down to the 40-player limit, Cleveland and New York reduced their rosters by seven and six respectively. The Browns got down to 42 by releasing Eugene Jackson, Bill Sabatino, Charles Fowler, Tom Gunnoe, Joe Bob Ise, Bob Reed and Randy Schultz. The Giants dropped veteran offensive tackle Roger Davis, Steve Brown, Earl Harris, Dick Steinsapfel and Mike Pungelli and placed linebacker Larry Vargo on the injury reserve list.

Among the bigger name stars dropped by NFL clubs were rookie quarterback Terry Southern by Baltimore, place-kicker Paige Cottom by San Francisco and veteran defensive lineman Jim Prevatel and Willie Adams by Washington.

Yastrzemski On Verge Of Homer Mark

By JOE GARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski, whose name never popped up in discussions of great home run hitters, is on the verge of displacing Ted Williams as Boston's left-handed hitting home run king.

Yastrzemski, who never hit more than 20 home runs in any season before 1967, drove in four runs with his 37th and 38th homers Tuesday night to power the Boston Red Sox to an 8-2 triumph over the Washington Senators.

The pair of homers left the hard-hitting Boston outfielder only five short of Williams' single season high of 42 set in 1949 and tied him with the Hall of Famer's second best output established in 1946 and repeated in 1967.

Yastrzemski has 21 games remaining in which to become Boston's single season lefty home run king and at his current rate of eight homers per month, he's almost a sure bet to top Williams. The single season Red Sox high of 50 set by Jimmy Fox in 1958 is quite a way off but not completely out of reach.

Twins Victory
Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota held on to its slim place lead by routing Cleveland 9-2. Chicago edged New York 6-3, Detroit blanked Kansas City 4-0 and California swept Baltimore twice 7-2 and 11-4. In the only National League action, Philadelphia trimmed Atlanta 4-3 in 11 innings.

Yastrzemski's first homer came with two men aboard and cut-mixed a six-run fourth inning outburst. His second, a solo shot in the seventh, raised his league leading runs batted in total to 101.

The victory left the Red Sox with a 79-62 mark, one half game behind the pace setting Twins. Rich Hollins drove in three runs with a bases loaded triple as the Twins bombed Sam McDowell for four runs in the first inning en route to their triumph over the Indians.

Cesar Tovar and Harmon Killebrew singled and Tony Oliva walked before Hollins drilled his triple to left center for three runs. Hollins scored the fourth run of the inning on Rod Carew's single. Jim Slaton, who was scratched for 13 days, went all the way to pick up his 11th victory of the season.

Walk Scores Run
Pinch hitter Smokey Burgess walked with the bases loaded in the third inning, allowing Pete Ward to score the tie breaking run as the White Sox beat the Yankees.

Ward and Ken Berry singled off Joe Verbanic to open the third and after a passed ball, Ron Hansen was passed intentionally to fill the bases. Verbanic walked the poorly Burgess on five pitches to force in the run. Don Buford homered in the eighth for an insurance run.

The White Sox, despite their victory, dropped to third place behind Boston and a full game behind Minnesota.

Joe Sparrs pitched a two hitter and Jim Northrup scored two runs and drove in another to pace the Tigers over the Athletics.

Detroit's victory left them a game and a half behind the Twins. Ruben Morton drove in eight runs to pace the Angels to a doubleheader sweep of the Orioles. Morton cracked a pair of two run doubles in the opener and drove in four runs with a pair of singles in the second game as he collected four hits in seven appearances for the day.

Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly in the 11th inning scored Gary Sutherland with the tie breaking run and gave the Phillies a win over the Braves.

Skydivers line up on wharf at Huron, Ohio, to be hoisted to another rescue effort.

ORDERED AWAY FROM DEATH LEAP—These three "lucky ones" in Cincinnati, Ohio, can thank an overloaded plane that they are alive. Paul Ritchey (left), Bob Pierson and Ed Schmitt got on the fatal plane from which all three skydivers leaped to death in Lake Erie, but were ordered off by the pilot because the plane was overloaded and they were the last to board it. A search went on for the 15 missing.

NEW JERSEY SKIPPER—Capt. Richard G. Alexander (above) of Charleston, S.C., will skipper the battleship New Jersey, which is being refitted for duty off Vietnam. The 45,000-tonner will be ready until next year.

TEACHERS FAIL . . .

community teachers were not answering the call.

More than 500,000 students were affected by school closings resulting from teachers' contract disputes in Michigan. Teachers had struck in East St. Louis, Ill., and resigned in mass in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Walkouts were threatened in New York City and Groton, Conn.

Wage concessions headed off strikes in Newport, R.I., and Youngstown, Ohio. Teachers in 36 Michigan cities staged mass boycotts of classes or preschool orientation sessions Tuesday, saying "no contract, no work." Gov. George Romney declared that it is "intolerable that education of children should be used as a pawn in negotiations."

Teachers Picket Teachers picketed schools in 10 Detroit suburbs, junior colleges in Belle Creek and Dearborn and a Macomb County community college. Detroit's 11,500 teachers voted overwhelmingly to reject a contract offer, and a strike appeared unavoidable.

Some 300,000 youngsters in Detroit are scheduled to return to school Thursday. Classes originally were to start today but were delayed by the contract dispute. Unemployed teachers in East St. Louis have boycotted the city's 42 schools since last Wednesday, when classes resumed. Non-union teachers kept the schools open, but union leaders say the non-strikers "are not competent to handle the students safely."

In Fort Lauderdale, 2,385 teachers resigned in a dispute with the Broward County School Board over wages and working conditions. The Florida Education Association urged teachers throughout the state to resign unless education appropriations are increased.

Refuses More Money Florida Gov. Claude Kirk refused to call a special session of the legislature to appropriate more money for education. He appointed a special privately financed commission to study the state's education problems and report on the situation by December, 1968.

In New York City, the United Federation of Teachers rejected a record offer of $125 million in wages and fringe benefits for the city's 55,000 teachers over the next three years. More than 21,000 teachers voted they would resign unless a contract agreement is reached before the scheduled opening of New York's schools next Monday.

More than a million pupils are enrolled in the New York public schools. Groton teachers rejected a salary offer Tuesday, but scheduled a last meeting Tuesday to decide whether to report for work. Schools for the Connecticut town's 1,400 students were due to open today.

CUTTING HORSES . . .

8 to 12 cows held there by two mounted "herd holders". From 30 to 50 feet toward the middle of the arena they will see two additional mounted riders known as "turn back men". They duck the cow being cut out of the herd, back toward the cutting horse that is working.

The principal idea of cutting is to get as much action and maneuvering out of the animal within the time limit of two and one-half minutes. The horse must "take hold" of a cow and get her headed and keep her that way. The ability by ing. We believed at him and told him that we were going to brain him if he didn't stop. He was reducing us to a bundle of nerves with his constant movement.

Don't know why people put up with a dog like that. But they do.

Well, we missed the last chapter of the Fugitive on TV. We've been watching that poor fellow dodging police for some time now and he was not guilty either. We read all the publicity on the series ending and we tell ourself that we must be sure and see the end of it. We wanted to see him walk off into the sunset a free man, and see that detective that has been chasing him with vengeance, eat crow.

We imagine that Jimmie Brandon on the Murray High Tiger team will wear his number, the right one, from now on. He wore Aaron Dowdy's number last Friday, made a touchdown, and old Aaron got the credit. It was Jimmie that made it folks.

Well, now, some folks have figured out how to accomplish the most difficult job. A reader calls to tell us that if you just run a plastic spatula between slices of bacon, they'll come right apart. Even if the bacon is almost frozen it will work like says.

Just goes to show you there is an easy way to do almost anything. We were on the army too long and just learned to do things the hard way.

We understand that Twiggy has been hospitalized. She's suffering from Dutch elm disease.

Fellow said if anyone is thinking about retiring soon, he should stay home for a week first and watch the daytime television shows.

Overheard: There's a lot of talk these days about new laws and stricter enforcement of laws against polluting the air. Does this mean we'll have fewer, better and shorter political speeches?

Two Meadow Larks this morning early out in the dew laden grass, preening in the sunlight, the yellow of their breasts standing out clearly in the just risen sun.

Big fat Dove out by the feeder. He's content with feeding from the ground and does not care to vie with the Sparrows for the narrow ledge of the bird feeder. The Sparrows bicker constantly on the ledge and fight one another even though there is plenty of food and plenty of room for all.

STRIKE AGAINST . . .

agreement centered on "productivity increase, equity and extra equity."

The industry terminology referred to Reuther's demand for a profit sharing plan or for negotiations based on how much Ford is getting back compared with its investment.

To anticipate the cow's movements and keep one jump ahead is a point to watch for.

The horse is strictly on its own, with no visible reining by the rider allowed. Within two and one-half minutes, the horse works as many cows as possible.

The judges of the cutting show rate the horses on their individual abilities as they perform and each rider is given his score immediately.
