Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Archers can hunt deer from October 23 through November 4 in the Land Between the Lakes. The Cravers Creek area will be the headquarters for the hunt. Better check for the exact boundaries.

It was downright cold this morning. The sun was bright and warm looking, but when we stopped out in the yard, there was a chill in the air which told us that the first day of Fall has already passed (Saturday, September 23). More leaves fell over the weekend which further emphasized the time of year.

Murray High has four games behind them with three wins and one loss. Murray State has played two and lost two, but just barely.

Saying in Las Vegas: "He came here driving a $6,000 automobile and left in a $60,000 bus."

Roofs are still being put on as a result of that hail storm.

Oliver Cherry made a room out of his garage.

The Murray Thorndike Club meets tonight at 6:00 p.m. at the SUB.

J. H. and Mrs. Shackelford are back from a week's trip to the west.

We think all the diggings is over on South 12th Street. All that clay had to be removed and the hole filled with gravel. Order is something out the street now so maybe it will not be too long before the thing is completed.

Sure leaves all three business places sitting up to the air, which gives a completely new look to the entire south section of town.

Would be nice if the four lining went on over the hill, then went into two lanes down in the bottom. There would be greater visibility from both the four lane and the two lane end of the traffic pattern.

Firm Entered Sunday Night

A break-in was reported this morning to the Murray Police Department by the McKel Equipment Company on Walnut Street. Entry to the business was gained by using a tire tool to force the door open. The door was then closed when the thief or thieves left the scene, according to Chief of Police Brent Manning, Sgt. Moxley Phillips, and Patrolman Joe P. Witherspoon.

Five dollars in cash and some hand tools were reported missing. The break-in occurred sometime between seven p.m. Sunday and seven o'clock this morning when the store owner, Coleman McKel, discovered the forced entry.

Field Trial Club To Hold Meet, Weekend

The Calloway County Field Trial Club will hold a membership trial at the West Ky. Wildlife Management area near Paducah September 30 and October 1.

Members of the Calloway County Conservation Club, Calloway County Field Trial Club, or any resident of Calloway County may run a dog.

WEATHER REPORT

West Kentucky — Sunny and mild this afternoon and Tuesday. Clear and cool tonight. High this afternoon and Tuesday 76-82. Winds this afternoon easterly 8-10 miles per hour. Low tonight 46-52. Outlook Wednesday — Light change.

Community Center Directed For Dexter By EOC Council

BENTON — The Purchase Area Economic Opportunity Council ratified the selection, but Thursday night peremptorily directed its director to open a community center in Dexter within 10 days.

The council's resolution came after a sharp discussion at the council's monthly meeting in the courthouse here over an apparent delay in opening the center.

Flem Messer, the director, said the center hasn't been opened yet because only two applications had been received for the post of community developer to operate it.

"There is some question whether there may not be some other persons who need it more," he told questioners.

Today, Messer told a newsmen, "I think the problem is resolved. We're going ahead and try to find somebody in the next few days, which is what we started to do anyway."

Eight other community centers are already operating in poverty areas in the four-county area. Dexter is the fifth and last.

County Judge Robert O. Miller of Calloway County, which includes Dexter, led the questioning. It was he who offered the resolution calling for opening of the center within 10 days.

County Judge Dick Castleman of Graves County, chairman of a screening committee to interview applicants for the post of educational specialist, announced that Davis Morris of Columbus, Ind., had been recommended. The council

Three Trucks Answer
Call To House Fire
About Noon Today

The home of Captain William Johnson on 12th Street was damaged extensively by fire today about noon.

Fire was primarily in the attic of the new home, but spread rapidly and broke through the ceiling of the house in a number of places. Firemen contained the fire and it never broke through to the outside.

The family was at home at the time of the fire. Captain Johnson pulled the fire in an effort to slow the fire before firemen arrived, and firemen got the fire under control shortly after arriving on the scene.

All three trucks answered the call with the truck from the substation being first at the fire. This is thought to be the first house fire west of 10th Street since construction of the fire substation.

Most of the furniture and fixtures in the home, and the entire interior, apparently were a total loss.

No indication was given as to how the fire started.

Morris Parker Ends Army Training

PT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Private Morris E. Parker, 21, son of Mrs. Deale B. Parker, 407 N. 10th Street, Murray, Ky., completed reconnaissance training Sept. 16 at the Army Armor Center, Ft. Knox, Ky.

He received eight weeks of training in the methods of scouting and patrolling, with emphasis on the operation of Army jeeps on rugged terrain. Instruction was also given in camouflage techniques, concealment in natural terrain and handling of weapons.

Ladies Day Golf To Be Held Wednesday

The Calloway County Country Club Ladies Day Golf will be held Wednesday, September 27, with tee off time at nine a.m.

Players will be paired at the tee. Reba Overby will be golf hostess. A potluck luncheon will be served at the noon hour.

STREAK DINNER

There will be a Men's Night steak dinner at the Oaks Country Club on September 28. Each person is to bring his own steak and everything else will be furnished. For reservations call Guy Spann or Clyde Roberts or sign up at the pro shop.

Class Officers At Calloway High Are Named Last Week

Class officers for 1967-68 of Calloway High School were elected recently by the freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Steering the 1967-68 senior class is president, Roger Joseph; vice-president, Tony Jones; secretary-treasurer, Susan Alexander; and reporter, Stan Key.

The junior class selected Danny Rose, president; Ricki Hopkins, vice-president; Gail Purches, secretary-treasurer; and Craig Calloway, reporter.

Guiding the sophomore class are Pat Lamb, president; Barbara Rose, vice-president; Glenda Lee, secretary-treasurer; and Elizabeth Nance, reporter.

Leading the freshman class this year are president, Paul Rushing; vice-presidents, Pete Roney; secretary-treasurer, Phyllis Turner; and reporter, Denice Ramoay.

Each of these officers was selected from his respective home-room as a candidate for an office. Then the entire class voted for the final slate of officers.

Clothing Project To End September 30

September 30 is the deadline for the collection of clothing for the Church World Service through the churches of the community under the leadership of Church Women United.

Mrs. Charles Crawford is chairman for the drive which is conducted semi-annually under the auspices of the local Council of Church Women United. She has indicated that all kinds of clothing which has yet six months or more is needed. Not desirable are high heeled shoes, open-toed shoes, evening dresses, men's hats and men's neckties. Items of bedding are especially needed, as are children's clothes.

Donations are to be deposited at the individual churches where the packing and weighing will be done. Participating are Goshen Methodist, North Pleasant Grove Cumberland, Episcopal, First Presbyterian, First Methodist and First Christian Churches.

Peasants Told More Bombing Planned On DMZ

By EUGENE V. RISHKE

SADON 800 — North Vietnamese peasants living near the Demilitarized Zone DMZ were warned to flee to South Vietnam if they want to save themselves and their children from a "rain of death and destruction" in massive 1968 bombing raids, a U.S. spokesman said today.

The warning came as the giant bombers continued to step up attacks against Communist artillery, mortar and rocket positions in the area, which have killed or wounded more than 800 U.S. Marines at the bloody, battered frontier of Vietnam since the first of the month.

The massive retaliation against North Vietnamese bombardments by the 82nd, 7th Fleet warships and American artillery already has been called by American officials the heaviest concentration of conventional firepower in history. The warning hinted that it would grow even worse.

Warn of Raids

The spokesman said that 250,000 leaflets were dropped over the village of Ben Tuong on the southern fringe of North Vietnam. It told of the "rain of death and destruction" from the 82nd and urged the residents to defect to the south.

The southern half of the Demilitarized Zone has been turned into a "strip of death" where anything that moves is fair game to American and South Vietnamese warplanes and for artillery which has zeroed in on virtually every inch of the area.

Heavy clouds blanketed most of North Vietnam Sunday, a spokesman said, holding down American warplanes to 74 missions. Most of these, the spokesman said, were in the southern peninsula where planes bombed by radar.

South Da Nang, meanwhile, Mrs. Mae Hill dies on Saturday Night

Mrs. Mae Hill of near Coldwater passed away Saturday at ten p.m. at her home. She was 87 years of age and her death was sudden even though she had been in ill health. She was a member of the Antioch Church of Christ.

Survivors are her husband, Mrs. Hill; one daughter, Mrs. Wayne Jackson of Mayfield; three brothers, El Black of Farmington, Route One, Bell Black of Mayfield, Route One, and Delmas Black of Apopka, Fla.; one granddaughter, Donna Jackson of Mayfield.

Funeral services are being held today at three p.m. at the Coldwater Church of Christ, Bro. Coleman Crocker officiating.

Palbearers are Leon Cude, Clarence Mayfield, Hugh Dowdy, Tommy Darnell, Herman Darnell, and Dewey Bazzell.

Burial will be in the Russell Cemetery with the Max H. Churchill Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams of Murray Route Five will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary the first Sunday in October.

The couple was married September 29, 1917 with Bro. C. Ray performing the ceremony at the famous old chestnut tree in the edge of Tennessee. Mr. Williams is the son of the late J. M. and Laura Williams. Mrs. Williams is the former Lola Fielder, daughter of the late J. D. Fielder and Mrs. Fielder.

The attendants were George T. and Gladys McCutcheon, Guil

Local Couple Call
From Brazil By Radio
And Telephone

Dr. and Mrs. John T. Murdock and children Ricky, Cindy, and Larry, of Porto Alegre in southern Brazil, called her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Workman, via shortwave radio and telephone last night.

Dr. Murdock, who is chief of party of the agricultural team working with the University of Rio Grande do Sul in Porto Rico, from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, called his radio contact in Madison who placed a long distance collect call to the Workman residence.

The short wave radio at the Murdock residence in Porto Rico has just been installed after they were there for three years. The radio will be a help to the work of the Wisconsin party as the communications system in regard to the telephone is very poor.

Murdock, son of Philip Murdock of Lynn Grove, is a professor in the self-department of the University of Wisconsin and is now head of the team from that school in Porto Rico working with the people there to try to improve their farming and living standards.

The Murdock are scheduled to return to Madison in June 1968. Mrs. Murdock is the former Sue Workman, a graduate of Murray Training School.

Mr. and Mrs. Workman said they were delighted to talk with their daughter and family. The Murdock plan to call other members of their families at a later time.

Eleven Cited By Police On Weekend

Eleven persons were cited by the Murray Police Department on Saturday and Sunday, according to the records of the department.

They were six for public drunkenness, one for reckless driving, two for driving while intoxicated, and two for improper registration.

Cookout Planned By Country Club Friday

The Calloway County Country Club will have a cookout for the members in the 4th, 6th, and 8th grades on Friday, September 29, from five to seven p.m.

A fee of twenty-five cents for each member will be charged. The cookout will be held rain or shine.

Two Persons Are Injured In Six Accidents Here

Six traffic accidents were investigated by the Murray Police Department over the weekend with injuries reported in two of them, according to the reports filed by the investigating officers.

Billy Joe Lovins, age two, received an injury on the right cheek in the three vehicle accident at North 12th and Chestnut Streets Saturday at 4:34 p.m.

Sylvia Lovins, age 22, who is expecting a baby, was in the Lovins truck, and was to be examined by a doctor later, according to the report filed by Sgt. James Brown, Patrolman Alvin Farris and Max Morris.

Vehicles involved in the accident were a 1959 Chevrolet two door, driven by Eugene Smith of Murray, who was reported to have injuries about the head; a 1967 Dodge pickup truck driven by Jack Aaron Lovins of Alamo Route One; and a 1961 Ford four door driven by Charles Eddie Reeder of Murray Route Two.

Police said Smith was going west on Chestnut Street, ran the red light at North 12th Street, hit the Lovins truck going north on 12th Street, and knocked it into the Reeder car going south on 12th Street.

Damage to the Lovins truck was on the right and left side and to the Reeder car on the left side, according to the report.

Just prior to this accident Smith's car had collided with the 1965 Chevrolet two door hardtop driven by William M. Edmonstone of Paducah, Ill., and owned by Carl A. Edmonstone, that was parked on the TGA Parking lot, according to the same policemen.

Police said Smith was going west on Chestnut Street at the time of this accident and it was a hit and run, according to the police. Smith was charged with driving while intoxicated, according to Chief of Police Brent Manning.

Leon Hicks of Mayfield Route One is reported in satisfactory condition by the Murray-Calloway County Hospital after suffering chest injuries in a two car accident Sunday at 12:05 p.m. at South 16th Street and Glendale Road, according to Patrolman Max Morris and Ed Knight.

Police said Hicks, driving a 1959 Oldsmobile four door, was going west on Glendale Road and pulled out in front of the 1964 Chevrolet two door hardtop owned by Erwin D. Miltendorf of Route Three, Metropolis, Ill., and driven

Sunday at 5:15 p.m. James Lee Burnett, Murray Route Five, driving a 1963 Dodge two door owned by Roy Lee Burnett, was turning left around the Dairy Queen parking lot and caught the left front fender and bumper of the 1959 Oldsmobile two door owned by J. W. Young and driven by Eddie Young of 309 North 28th Street, according to report filed by Patrolman Alvin Farris and Max Morris.

A two vehicle collision occurred Saturday at 10:50 a.m. on Walnut Street, according to Patrolman Joe P. Witherspoon and H. E. Wilsh.

Barbara D. Chikutt, 224 South 11th Street, driving a 1960 Pontiac four door hardtop, was pulling out of a parking lot and because of a sign at the edge of the driveway struck the 1963 Chevrolet pickup going west on Walnut Street in the right front fender with the SEVEN MONTHS TO GO — Construction of a $3½ million science building addition at Murray State University is about 60 per cent completed, officials report. The addition, which was contracted a year ago, is supposed to be ready April 18. It will more than double existing space for science instruction. The addition adjoins MSU's old science building, opened in 1958, which is being refaced to match the modern design of the new facility.

Fins 'n Feathers

By LEE SMITH

A confession, a problem, a request and a promise (or threat, depending upon your point of view).

CONFESSION: To accept pay for working with the Double F 'n friends is worse than stealing. Because of the guilty feelings, the notebook is full of unpublished articles. Each time we look at the gems of wisdom, the accusing thought, "you should be at work" stops us from turning them in.

PROBLEM: How to help our friends, pay our way, work and play at the same time. At first glance — boys that look like a corker! Think! If Mohamad can't get to all of the mountain, how about bringing part of the mountain to Mohamad.

SOLUTION: To serve everyone best... we offer the Fins 'n Feathers Section. The Chief will bear a portion of the cost, friends who are interested may do themselves and us a favor by advertising their services, product or business at a very nominal charge. At present we need 20 more sponsors, which I fully expect to have before Tuesday, Sept. 26th. There goes "ole foot in the mouth" again. This time we really have something to offer you. You know there is no better means of advertising than with the Ledger and Times. What I'm really thinking is... the Ledger and Times is the ONLY way to advertise. Junior being such a modest soul really couldn't say that — could she?

In the next few days I shall contact as many as I can, I hope you will call me at home after 4:30 p.m. Call to give your news or to talk business. Call us at the shop if you will. Should we be out, leave your number and we'll find you!

This special section is for one article a week... say Tuesday.

Next, Junior has dozens of ideas to provide an equal opportunity for all our friends and to give Useless a legitimate excuse for getting perhaps three articles a week. Now YOU have the ball — either make your touchdown, or fumble!

One page can't represent a tenth of the Double F family, so the next idea could be a page — COONER'S HAVEN — or whatever you would be most interested in. Please call, we'll be listening!!

Gene Pendleton has two Black and Tan Hounds LOST! If you have any information, call us (753-1917 days, or 753-2450, night) please.

Congratulations, Mr. Lynn and "Miss" Lucy Ferguson, on their 50th Wedding Anniversary. We hope you have at least 50 more!

Our prayers and best wishes for a complete and speedy recovery for Steve Sammons.

Sympathy is extended to the family and friends of Sammy Johnson whose untimely death has saddened us all. May God bless and comfort each of you in our wish.

Bill Mohandore, Red Thompson and hounds won First Place trophy at the Twin Lakes Buddy Hunt, Saturday night, September 16th. Believe Neal York and Ronald Phillips won Second Place. Don't have any more details now, but since we know when we'll be here in the future — you can bet we'll have news by Tuesday.

Fins 'n Feathers, along with the dove hunters of this area, would like to thank Mr. Bucy (of near Stella), Carnell Wells, Robert Ross Craig, Darrell Shoemaker, Calvin Compton, Earl Parker, and all the other farmers and land owners who have allowed dove hunting on their land. Many farmers, dairymen and livestock owners do not allow hunting on their property because of the possible danger to their livestock... and most hunters understand and respect their concern.

Most of the hunts we have been on were pretty good. There have been a lot of doves killed so far this year. Right now things seem to have slowed a bit. The doves are feeding mostly in corn fields that have been cut for silage. Although there are not too many fields cut, we usually find enough birds to have a good shoot. Most of the fields that have been cut so far are just about shot out. We find that the doves start feeding about 3:30 or 4:00 p.m., this seems to be the best time to hunt. Maybe when the soy beans and popcorn fields are cut and picked things will pick up again. At least we hope so.

We have enjoyed several dove hunts recently with J. C. Frank and Hugh Brandon, Jimmy Taylor, Dennis Taylor, Johnny Warren, "Doc" Arnett and "Ace", Jerry Pat Osborn, Kenneth Shelton, Billy McCusiston and others... all fine sportsmen (and good shots).

HELP! A Redtick Hound was lost west of Puryear, Tenn., Saturday night. The hound is wearing a collar bearing the name Jack Garland, Almo, Ky., route one. If you have any knowledge of the hound's whereabouts, please call Collect 753-7777!

The best thing about running an advertisement on this page is that it is sure to be read. Every hunter and many others who are not hunters read this column. By placing your ad on this same page, you are assured of readership.

The fact that the ad is repeated week after week is in your favor because the very essence of advertising is repetition!

West Westrum Resigns As N.Y. Mets Head

NEW YORK — Wes Westrum, overwhelmed by the "mental and physical strain" of losing games and waiting to find out whether the ax would fall, resigned yesterday as manager of the New York Mets.

Harry (The Hat) Walker, fired as Pittsburgh's skipper earlier this season, became a leading candidate to succeed Westrum, who has been offered a job in the Mets' front office.

Other possible successors to Westrum are Bill Virdon, manager of the club's Jacksonville team in the International League; Sam Mele, deposed manager of the Minnesota Twins; and Mets' coach Yogi Berra.

The Mets have always liked Ollie Hoynes, but his contract as Washington manager runs until next year and he already has said he intends to honor it.

Couch Sally Parker was given the task of running the team from the field for the remainder of the season, purely an interim appointment.

Westrum's resignation caught Mets' president Ben Devine by surprise.

"Westrum explained his reasons for resigning to me and we explored the possibility of remaining in the Mets organization," Devine said. "Since his decision took me by surprise, I was unable to immediately offer him a specific position."

Devine said his own preference would be to have Westrum as his special assistant.

The Mets also announced that Bob Scheffing, director of player development, and Whiskey Herwig, assistant to the president, have been promoted to the front office.

Westrum was asked to finish the season as manager, but the stocky, 44-year-old former major league catcher said he had other plans. He is visiting his mother in Clearbrook, Minn., and his family in Phoenix, Ariz., next week.

"The strain of waiting for the decision of whether or not I would be rehired, and the mental and physical strain of the club losing were too much for me," Westrum admitted.

Jokingly, Westrum said he would have liked to have been a winner, but even that was denied him when the Mets lost Wednesday night to Los Angeles.

Westrum took over as interim manager on July 25, 1966 when Casey Stengel suffered a fractured hip. Four months later, Westrum's title became official.

Westrum leaves the Mets in last place for the first time in his history last year.

Three OVC Teams Winners

By United Press International
Three of Kentucky's four Ohio Valley Conference teams took victories in Saturday football action, with defending OVC champion Morehead scoring one of its most satisfying wins in recent years.

Morehead, playing at home, topped Middle Tennessee State University 21-10 for its first win in 16 years over the Tennessee team. Morehead was again sparked by tailback Tommy Gray, who rushed for 112 yards for Morehead's first touchdown.

Playing at Clarksville, Western Kentucky lashed Austin Peay 31-0 behind the power running of fullback Dicky Moore.

A junior, Moore ran for three touchdowns of 80, 36 and 9 yards. He gained 162 yards in nine carries. It was Austin Peay's second straight loss.

In Johnson City, Eastern Kentucky's combination of quarterback Jack Jim Gule to split end Aaron Marsh provided the fireworks and led the Maroons to an easy 35-7 victory of East Tennessee State University.

Marsh caught a nine-yard pass in the first half for one touchdown, and took the second half kickoff 94 yards for another.

The only Kentucky team to experience a loss was Murray, which dropped a slim 22-21 decision to Tennessee Tech on Murray's home field. The Racers had jumped to a 21-0 third quarter lead behind quarterback Larry Tillman's passing. He completed 23 of 47 passes, but Tech scored nine points in the third quarter to win.

Split end Harvey Tanner caught 14 of Tillman's passes for 119 yards and one touchdown.

Abernathy Wants Work
By HARRY S. GROSS
UPI Sports Writer
Inactivity is something Ted Abernathy, the veteran Cincinnati Reds' pitcher, abhors.

At 34, the oldest pitcher on the Reds' roster, the submarine-baller figures he has all winter to rest so he can gain the reputation of being a workhorse.

"It seems a shame that a guy who pitches every day," Abernathy said recently. "He hasn't quite pitched that often but almost. Abernathy worked the final two innings in Cincinnati's 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Sunday and it was his 69th appearance of the season. In 60 of them he was around when the last out was made."

But don't feel sorry for Abernathy. In 1965, he made 94 relief appearances with the Chicago Cubs and it earned him "fireman of the year" honors. He's headed for similar honors when the ballgame for workhorse starts.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1; St. Louis downed Atlanta 5-4; Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 3-1 and Houston topped New York 4-2.

In the American League, Minnesota maintained its half-game lead over Boston by downing the New York Yankees 9-4; Boston outslug Baltimore 11-7; Chicago tipped Cleveland 3-1; Detroit lost to Washington 5-4 and California got by Kansas City 2-1.

Abernathy won his sixth game in nine decisions when Tommy Helms' sacrifice fly drove in Tony Perez with the winning run.

Steve Blass and Woody Fryman combined for a four-hitter in the Pirates' success over San Francisco.

The National League champion St. Louis Cardinals pushed across their winning tally in the ninth when Del Maxwell scored all the way from first when losing pitcher Cecil Upshaw threw wild on Alex Johnson's sacrifice bunt.

Rick Wise turned in a three-hitter for Philadelphia and Cookie Rojas homered to beat the Dodgers.

TIME OUT

by GALE GARRISON

Did you know that Lefty Gomez is the only batter to walk twice in the same inning in a World Series?

It happened in the 1937 Series, in the sixth inning. Gomez opened the inning by drawing a pass off Carl Hubbell, and then went to second on a bad throw by Dick Bartell, and scored on a single by Joe Dimaggio. Six runs later, with only one out and runners on first and third, Gomez came up again. This time he drew a pass from Dick Coffman. He got credit for the win.

There sure was a bunch of happy people in the Cards' dressing room after last Monday's game. Everyone was yelling, jumping around, drinking part of the champagne, and pouring the rest on whoever happened to be standing nearby. I was glad they won also, but everyone but me had gone to bed, so I couldn't start yelling and jumping around. I didn't have any champagne to drink and no one to pour it on.

I got up and went into the kitchen and got myself a big glass of water and drank it all.

Sure was exciting!

Would you believe... Girls' Pro Football? Sid Friedman, a Cleveland theatrical public relations man, would. He has signed 18 players for an all-girl pro football team and they are going to tour the United States this fall and winter, playing men's semi-pro teams.

He has signed Marion Motley, former Cleveland Browns fullback, as coach and they are going to use Cleveland Municipal Stadium to practice in.

"I've got 18 girls signed up now," he said, "and I hope to double that number soon. The girls will wear regulation football uniforms, and we will play pro rules. We will play one game a week."

They are going to call the team the Dare Devils, which seems like a good name for a girls' pro football team.

I saw the All-American Rednecks, a girls pro basketball team, play out at Calloway County a few years back, but this girls' pro football team is something else.

Murray State and Murray High both looked good over the weekend, and should improve as the season advances. The Racers didn't do so hot on the ground as they gained only 50 yards to Tech's 285, but they did themselves proud in the air, completing 23 out of 47 attempts for a total of 257 yards to Tech's 98 yards. Tech attempted 15 and completed 6 for their yardage.

Tillman was the boy doing the passing, and threw several to Tanner and Young, as well as a couple to Hake and Theiss. One of the big reasons that Tillman was able to complete the passes was the fine blocking that he was getting from his line, he had all the time he needed to find and hit his man.

The Tigers have a real fine line also, they did a lot of good blocking in there Friday night.

Seems that Murray State couldn't borrow a couple of points from Murray High, because the Tigers had more than they needed against Fulton, and the Racers needed two points to defeat Tech. But, then I guess that isn't legal.

The Tigers will be playing Bowling Green this Friday night, and the Racers will be playing another OVC game at home as they take on Morehead. Then next week will be homecoming at MSU.

Four Top Teams In A.L. Give Pitchers Hard Job Without Rest

By DICK JOYCE
UPI Sports Writer

What ever happened to three days of rest for starting pitchers?

In the Frank American League season race which comes to a close next Sunday—barring play-offs—it leaves little time to rest for the weary arms of contending Minnesota, Boston, Chicago and Detroit.

It may just be that 20-game winners Jim Lonborg of the Red Sox and Dean Chance of the Twins will look up in a pitching duel to decide the flag in next Sunday's finale even though they both won Sunday and will pitch again before next weekend.

Minnesota maintained its half-game lead over Boston Sunday by beating the New York Yankees 9-4 as Chance coasted to his 20th triumph. Lonborg won his 21st and got a little reprieve as the Red Sox downed Baltimore 11-7.

Detroit Falls Behind

The White Sox stayed one game off the pace but advanced into third place with a 3-1 victory over Cleveland and Detroit dropped to fourth, 14 games back, by losing to Washington 5-4. In the other A.L. game, California ripped Kansas City 2-1.

In the National League, St. Louis edged Atlanta 5-4; Cincinnati tripped Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings; Pittsburgh ripped San Francisco 2-1; Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 3-1 and Houston defeated New York 4-2.

Boston has only four games remaining—against Cleveland Tuesday and Wednesday nights and against Minnesota Saturday and Sunday. Pittsburgh and San Francisco each have five games remaining while Detroit has six.

Red Sox Manager Dick Williams said that Lonborg definitely will start against the Indians Wednesday with two days rest. That's why he lifted the 6-foot-6 right-hander after six innings Sunday with Boston leading 1-0.

The Red Sox just did manage to hang on as the Orioles scored an unearned run in the seventh, two more unearned runs in the eighth and four more in the eighth before Don Oldrick finally got the last two outs.

Denton Jones, Jerry Adair and George Scott each banded out four hits for Boston, with Jones driving in five runs.

Fast Start

Chance was stalked to seven runs in the first two innings as Bob Allison hit a three-run homer off Yankee loser Steve Arber and Harmon Killebrew collected three hits in three at bats, including his 41st homer. The Minnesota right-hander is expected to start against California Wednesday night and within come back against the Red Sox.

A nifty relief stint by veteran reliever Don McMahon helped the White Sox keep the Indians in check. He took over from starter Cisco Carles in the third and didn't allow a runner to reach first until the eighth when Rich Scheidegger and Joe Ascare led off with doubles. Gary Peters and Bob Locker in relief stopped the Cleveland rally.

Don Buford batted in two runs with a single and infield out and Ken Boyer homered to account for the White Sox runs.

The Senators, trailing the Tigers 4-2 in the ninth, rallied as Mike Epstein and Frank Coggins delivered singles. Paul Casanova drove in one run and Doug Camill and Fred Valentine came through with singles for the victory.

Earl Wilson pitched for the Tigers tonight against the Yankees, seeing his 23rd victory with only two days rest.

Bryant To Make Some Changes After Saturday 37-37 Upset

By DAVID M. MOFFIT

UPI Sports Writer

Alabama coach Bear Bryant said today he planned to revamp his defensive unit in view of Saturday night's upset 37-37 tie with Florida State.

Bryant has always prided his teams for their defense. His perfect-record team last season led the nation in defense against scoring with an average of only 3.7 points per game and only twice in nine seasons had an opponent scored more than two touchdowns against the Crimson Tide.

It thus was a shock to him and Alabama's fans when Florida State, a 32-13 loser the previous week to Houston, scored as many points in Alabama's opener as all 10 Tide foes scored in 1966.

"We're not going to lose any more with the same people," Bryant fumed. "This is the weakest defensive team I ever put on the field. They gave less effort than any team I ever put out there."

Believed Best

Bryant had cause to be upset. Eight starters from last year's great defensive unit were back and he believed that this might be the best defensive group he'd ever had.

"We just forgot what it takes to play defense," Bryant growled after Florida State ran up 407 yards, 287 via passing, and scored four touchdowns and three field goals. It was an incredible performance before 11,299 stunned Alabama fans at Birmingham. Florida State scored more points, 24, in the first half than any regular season foe had scored in a full game since Bryant returned to Alabama in 1965.

The only time in Bryant's 22 previous seasons as head coach that any team scored as many points was in the first game of the 1954 season when the Bear's first Texas A&M team lost 31-9 to Texas Tech.

Hope Prides Hurt
"I hope all our prides are hurt," Bryant said. "I hope I'll do a better job of planning next time."

Florida State had a chance to beat Alabama but coach Bill Peterson was unwilling to gamble on a last-minute two-pointer.

Peterson, figuring the tie was upset enough, said: "Is was not going to mess up 60 minutes of great effort in case we failed to get two."

Alabama was not alone in its humiliation this past Saturday. Ole Miss was beaten by Memphis State, 27-17, for the first time in 22 meetings; Miami of Florida lost to Northwestern 12-7 and Tulane was upset by Miami of Ohio 14-3.

Georgia Big Winner

The big winner in the region was Georgia. The Bulldogs, No. 4 in the nation last year and looking like No. 1 in the South at present, crushed Mississippi State 30-0 with an awesome defensive display.

In other games: sophomore Jackie Edick, filling the shoes of Steve Spurrier, led Florida to a 14-0 win over Big Ten contender Illinois; Kim King sparked Georgia Tech in the second half to a 17-10 victory over tougher-than-expected Vanderbilt; healthy Nelson Stokely led Louisiana State to a last-minute touchdown over Rice; Auburn outmanned Chattanooga 40-6 with Larry Blakeney scoring two touchdowns and passing for another in the fourth period and Kentucky fumbled away a 10-point halftime lead while losing 12-30 to Indiana.

Coach Furgerson's Young Team Turns In Good Game, Lose 21-22

Bill Furgerson's young Murray State Racers accounted for themselves well Saturday night, fending the experts by being edged out by only one point by Tennessee Tech in an OVC contest here.

The Racers gave the Tennessee fans all they wanted for four quarters Saturday and were denied a victory by the slimmest of margins.

The toe of Bernie Thompson sent the ball through the uprights to score a field goal for Tech with only 2:12 left in the third quarter of the game. This was the last point score for the night, although a full quarter was left in the game.

Larry Tillman, Murray State quarterback, with excellent protection, took to the air completing 23 out of 47 passes gaining 257 yards. Tech passed 15 times completing six for 93 yards.

End Gerald Young pulled in two of Tillman's passes for scores and Harvey Tanner another.

Tennessee Tech scored twice in the first quarter blanking the Racers. Bill Swain of Tech scored from the two yard line in the opening quarter. Murray had fumbled on the ten and three plays later Tech put it over. The extra point by Joey Butcher was good. The next TD came after a 73 yard march down the field. Dennison made one last six yards around the left end for the score. The extra point attempt was wide and the quarter ended with a 13 to 0 score in favor of Tech.

Murray State came back in the second quarter however, blanking Tech and putting across two touchdowns of their own, complete with extra points to give the Racers a 14-13 edge at halftime.

Tillman passed to Young on a thirty yard play for the first. Racers score with 9:30 left in the half. The second score came late in the quarter when Larry White recovered a Tech fumble on Murray's 31. Seven plays later Tillman hit Tanner with only 31 seconds showing.

Humphries made both conversions to put Murray ahead.

The third quarter saw each team score with the deciding points the field goal by Thompson.

The Racers drove 71 yards down the field for their third tally. Tillman hit Young once again on a 41 yard play with Humphries making the conversion.

Minutes later Tennessee Tech scored again from the one after a 63 yard drive.

On the kickoff Murray failed to gain and punted to the Tech 25. Tech came right back to the Murray 20 where they bogged down and called on Thompson's toe. He delivered and Murray was edged by one point.

Murray's running game was not too good with only 50 yards being registered. Russ Hake gained 31 yards on 12 carries to stand out for the Racers.

Early or Late, Mate Should Call

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never thought I'd be writing a DEAR ABBY letter, but here I am.

When my husband calls and says he's going to be late because he's going out with his boss, don't you think he should call me if he knows he is going to be detained longer than he said he would? When I complained because he said he'd be home about 10 p.m., but he came in at 2 a.m., he said, "You're not my mother! What am I supposed to do, get up and say, 'I have to call my wife'?" But a child calls his mother! Abby, I just want to be sure he's not in a hospital, a ditch or jail. I trust him concerning other women, but because I was very jealous before we were married, he thinks I still am. I really do trust him, but don't you think a husband should call his wife to let her know he's going to be later than he says he'll be?

DALLAS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes. (And he should let her know if he's going to be early, also.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Renee, was to have been married in four weeks to Max who is in the army.

Plans for the wedding had been completed. The bridegroom had bought his dress, and the wedding invitations were ready to be mailed. Two showers had already been given for Renee, and she received many lovely gifts.

Then Max called and said his orders had been changed and he was being shipped to Viet Nam for a year. Max then said that he had decided to wait until after Viet Nam to be married.

Abby, Renee and Max are very much in love and they say that nothing short of a catastrophe will prevent the wedding next year. Under the circumstances should the shower gifts be returned? What about the bridegroom who paid for the dress? Max and his parents decided to postpone the wedding without even consulting Renee and her parents. Do you think that was right? It seems that the bride's parents should have had something to say about it.

PLANS SPOILED

DEAR PLANS: Max should have given Renee an opportunity to express herself. However, if only one of the principals decides to postpone a wedding that one constitutes a majority. Keep the shower gifts, since the wedding was not canceled — only postponed. And unless the bridegroom save the dresses to wear next year, they are out of luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am a P. K. (Procreator's Kid) and I sure wish you'd put this in your column for other P. K.'s because I'm sure we all have the same problem.

Abby, we want to feel that we belong to the crowd and we want other kids to act the same around us as they would act around any other kid. We are human beings, we aren't perfect, and nobody has to feel unloved around us in case he makes a slip of the tongue. We make them, too.

We just want to be accepted like everybody else, but most of the time we are left out because lots of kids don't want to be in the crowd. Once I was out of town and a kid asked me what my father did. For a joke I said he sold fire insurance and I never had such a wonderful time. P. K.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Color and Pattern Count

So Consider Them When You Decorate

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

THE WONDERFUL world of color can bewitch, both-er and bewilder when you're considering a decorating scheme for home.

Which colors should you choose? Which shades are "in" shades this season? Is plain better than pattern or vice versa?

Decisions such as these are difficult because you have to live with them. You'll have more chance of living happily ever after with your choices, advises the Textile Dye Institute, if you make sure that the fabric you select appeals to you emotionally both in color and pattern and that it is manufactured by a reputable company.

As a consumer, you do not choose the dye that goes into the end product, but you can play a role in the choice of the color wheel. Pick them in an emphatically-patterned fabric and make it the focal point of the setting.

Peace And Quiet

If you like a room with that peace-and-quiet atmosphere make your scheme monochromatic and neutral with a touch of color showing up in little accessories here or there.

Neutral schemes are also wonderful camouflage for badly proportioned furniture and for hiding architectural defects.

Paper Work

Plot furniture arrangements on paper before you make a move. This could save you shoving the baby grand piano around whilst you try it in various spots.

Raise The Ceiling

The easiest way to raise a low ceiling is to hang drapes patterned with a close vertical stripe on the windows. The up-and-down stripe line will — presto! — make the ceiling seem higher than it is.

Small Room

If the room is small, keep to cool colors that will make it look larger. Avoid heavy, massive furniture, and select pieces that are small in scale and have an airy look.

What About Windows?

Many rooms have windows of different sizes, hung at different levels. If these are treated identically, it only emphasizes the difference. Of course, there must be some unity to avoid a hodgepodge effect.

You might, for example, use full length sheers and draperies on the larger windows and treat the smaller ones—such

EACH WINDOW uses only one pulled-back drapery so that the traditional lines print won't overpower this small room. The wool rug is avocado and the cotton slipcover is olive.

POLISHED COTTON, printed green, gold, yellow and bittersweet with vat dyes, slipcovers chairs and make cornices for fire-side windows. Each cornice is in one of the fabric colors.

DAILY PATTERNED window shade with cornice covered in matching fabric brightens outlook of breakfast area.

CHAPTER 26

T MY most recent check of the time, we'd had precisely thirteen minutes to spare to the blue bus. Perhaps another minute had elapsed, leaving us twelve. Even with the most facile use of locators and jimmies, and even with a direct route dash across the intervening real estate, it would take at least nine minutes to clear the veranda hatch and arrive at the rendezvous. But now, poised exactly between us and our escape, standing round and firm and fully packed in what appeared to be an ankle-length dressing robe, was Caesar Popov. Soviet spy-master, meeting a girl he called Lotti. On their heels a matronly shadow came rushing, arms waving. Caesar squealed.

Lotti squealed.

Mrs. Popov squealed.

"Who is zat in zere vee you?"

"There were now six of us, watermelons, and since three were thrashing wildly about it didn't matter whom you brushed against when you took my first real breath of the season and pushed Stark and Harper out of the room and into the clear. We were followed closely by the angling trio.

The racket was horrendous, as we made for the fire door, because you simply can't have two Russians and a German chambermaid staging a foot race around a darkened indoor swimming pool and neve it sound like a crystal set playing wipers. Nor can things be muted any by the scampering feet of three fleeing safecrackers and the shouting confusion of a dozen Soviet security men who come boiling out of doorways and down stairways, waving pistols and bellowing the lights, the lights, somebody turn on the lights, and what is going on anyhow?

There were, of course, the inevitable splashes.

Primarily concerning me at the moment, however, was the fact that, looming against the fire door, was the shadow of one of Popov's hoods who, having hurried down the stairs from the lobby, now stood immobile at the fringe of the blind pulling, pushing, plunging, and palpitating pandemonium.

As we clung together behind a big potted plant, I espied a hand to Stark's ear and said under the noise of the swimming party. "We'll have to duck him and hope that when he wakes up he'll blame his friends."

Stark nodded.

We skirted the wall, deep in darkness, and Stark had just cocked his arm for a karate chop when the man by the fire door said, "Hold it. Not through here. Takes too long. Up through the lobby."

"Well, well, Good old Adalbert," Stark said.

"Hurry," Adalbert said. "I knew something had gone wrong so I parked the car by the veranda hatch."

"The woman and kid?" Stark asked, watching another shadow Russian stumble into the shadowy pool.

"Keeping the switchboard busy and holding onto the basement light fuse. She'll reactivate the lights as soon as she sees we're clear. Hurry now."

He gave us a push toward the stairs.

We plunged up the staircase, sped across the mezzanine, skidded around a Tonight's Entertainment easel, and took the remaining flight of stairs a flight at a time. The lobby was dimly lit with night lights, but compared to the dusk in the old swimming hole it looked like a world premiere. I blinked against the glare as I made for the front door. And then I blinked some more.

A pale little guy in an alpaca coat was backed against the telephone switchboard, eyes closed and arms upheld in defense against the drubbing of a handbag being swung by a big blonde in red. A little girl who looked like Betty Boop leaned against the abandoned reservations desk, coughing up a storm.

"You dirty cur," the dame was shrieking, "what kind of hotel has phones that don't work? What kind of hotel has a house doctor who can't be reached? What kind of hotel has a staff who cares so little about a sick little girl they all go swimming instead of running for a doctor? I'll sue you, fil—"

"But, madame, we've tried—the little man whined from behind his arms. "The doctor—"

Ouch—The phone—Ouch—

"We're leaving for Heidelberg this very instant, understand? And after my poor darling sees a doctor, I see a lawyer. And I'll sue you out of that shiny rotten little coat, you — you child hater!"

I had no choice. I had to stop. Not to watch the action. (To Be Continued Tomorrow) stare at the woman at the desk.

It was Trina.

"Get moving," Stark snarled in my ear.

As the car rumbled down the drive, Stark parted the lap robe and said, "The phone line. We restored it."

"Last thing, just before I got in the car," Glock's bass came back solemnly. "The junction box was behind the amies, as your informant said."

"Good. I was afraid it might have been moved. I never know."

There was the business with the clanking chain and the squeaking iron at the front gate and then Adalbert gunned the motor and we were off.

We rolled about fifty yards and a back tire blew out.

"Stark and Harper—out!" I roared. "Out! Fast! Glock: turn out your lights!"

I kicked down the tailgate and the three of us poured out gauging our gear and alternately cursing and praying.

"Into the bushes! Quick!"

"Well," I muttered eventually, "let's go. We've got a long, long walk."

"Not so very," a voice said behind me.

The weariness was so great I didn't really have a fight in me, but, like Stark, I made a try at it. He and I whirled, pistols out, hammers bent, and knees bent.

The man behind us threw up his hands in the gloom and said rapidly in a husky voice. "Wait. Wait. I only want to offer you a ride!"

"Bertram Sanderson," I said. "You came very near to being dead."

"I'm sorry to startle you."

"What are you doing here?"

"Well, Captain, I got to worrying about you and you told me you were coming here, and I thought I might be of help to you somehow, and so I drove up this way, and parked the car down the hill, and I was snooping around when you gentlemen came piling out of that station wagon, and, well, here I am. I hope you don't mind."

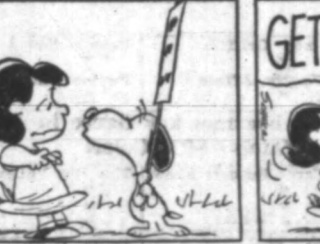

"Lead on, Bert," I said. "And after I get some sleep I'm going to see to it that you get an official commendation."

PEASANTS . . .

American armored Cavalrymen killed 45 North Vietnamese in a new outbreak of fighting that lasted for nine hours. There were two Americans killed and eight injured.

Early today, the Cavalry troops moved out looking for the Communist force that fought from well fortified positions 40 miles south of Da Nang. There was no immediate report of contact.

Attack Communist Positions
The battle Sunday erupted when the Cavalry unit swept into the positions held by a Communist force estimated at 200 men.

The Americans called in artillery, helicopter gunships and tactical air strikes. For nine hours Sunday, the battle raged. By dark, the American unit was reinforced.

Flareships lit the battlefield. Air Force Dragonships, with their rapid-firing gatling guns, raked the North Vietnamese bunkers with thousands of bullets. By midnight, the Communists broke contact, retreating toward hills to the west.

There were eight American casualties — two killed and eight wounded.

The spotlight of the war, however, still was on the bloody Leatherneck fort overlooking infiltration trails from the DMZ where 35,000 North Vietnamese troops are reportedly poised for a possible massive invasion thrust. B-52's flew three more raids early today.

Despite the massive retaliation by U.S. bombers, 7th Fleet warships and American artillery, the Communist guns continue to take their toll.

Three Marines were killed and 23 more injured on Sunday by at least 125 rounds of mortar and rocket fire that slammed into the outpost.

The counter strikes, however, have apparently helped. The Communist battalions have been out down from the 400 to 600 shells they had been hurling at Con Thien daily for the past several weeks.

On Saturday, an estimated company of North Vietnamese regularly attacked a reconnaissance patrol of four Marines east of Con Thien. The four Leathernecks, using grenades and automatic weapons, fought back. They used a radio to call for help from rocket-firing helicopter gunships.

By the time the fight was over, 20 North Vietnamese lay dead. The four Marines walked away from the battle without a scratch.

7. New approaches are being made in Paducah to find housing for low-income groups. Washington University of St. Louis is planning to make a study on improving housing.

8. The Social Science Department at Murray State University has been approached on the possibility of doing a comprehensive survey of poverty in rural areas.

9. A training program for EOC staff members, along with staffs of other councils, was held last month in Madisonville.

10. A plan has been developed to form an evaluation committee within the council to check on progress and shortcomings of the program.

The On-The-Job training program, it was reported, had arranged 83 job slots at the end of August. At that time 63 persons had been placed in the slots, of whom seven had resigned or been fired.
