INTEGRATION LEADER IS ASSASSINATED

Is Shot Down At Hotel As He Readies Another Mass March

By HENRY P. LEIFERMANN
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Attorney Gen. Ramsey Clark said today he is "very hopeful" that the sniper-slayer of integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be apprehended soon.

Clark made the statement at an impromptu press conference held on the ramp of Memphis Airport as King's casket was being loaded aboard a chartered airliner to be flown home to Atlanta. Clark who rushed here from Washington had gone aboard the plane earlier to express to King's widow the very deep regret of President Johnson and all the cabinet at the tragic loss of this great American.

Clark was asked whether any progress was being made toward identifying and capturing the youthful white assassin who killed King Thursday night with a single rifle shot as the civil rights leader stood on the balcony of a motel.

Real Progress
"Yes, real progress is being made. Substantial evidence has been discovered. I'm fully confident this crime will be solved," the attorney general said.

Asked whether an arrest is imminent, Clark said, "We are very hopeful."

To a question whether the suspect has been definitely identified, Clark responded:

"We are getting very close." He said there is no indication of any conspiracy.

"All the evidence we have is this is the work of a single person."

Rioting erupted in Harlem, in Memphis, Nashville, Tallahassee, Fla., and Raleigh, N. C., despite President Johnson's televised plea for calmness. Three persons died in the outbursts.

Nearly 200 persons filed past King's copper and bronze casket in half an hour before it was carried to the airport for the flight back to Atlanta.

The President summoned Negro leaders to an 11 a. m. conference at the White House, postponing his trip to Hawaii for Vietnam talks.

Memphis Police chief Frank Holloman announced early today that "certain evidence has been found which we believe will be helpful in apprehending the suspect."

Suspect "Faded"
But the suspect, he said, had "simply faded."

At the funeral home, an elderly woman stepped past the casket, looked at the body of the martyred hero and said:

"I didn't know you, but I loved you."

The killer blew a gaping hole in King's neck with a round from a .30-06 Remington pump rifle

Dr. Martin Luther King with a telescopic sight. It was fired 265 feet and three inches from the window of a communal bathroom in a flophouse to the balcony of King's hotel across the street.

King whirled and fell on his back in a pool of blood on the Lorraine Hotel balcony. Mrs. King, in a 74-seat jet chartered for her by presidential candidate Robert Kennedy, was flying from Atlanta to bring home her husband's body.

New SCLC Leader
While the casket was en route to the airport, King's chief aide, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, assumed leadership of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

He promised to conduct the mass march Monday that King had come here for—"it will be a silent march in his memory." And he vowed that he would carry through King's planned "Poor People's campaign" on Washington.

He called for "silent memorial marches" around the nation on Sunday.

Abernathy stood on the pavement beneath the balcony where his leader was shot and said, "no man can fill King's shoes."

King was shot at about 7 p. m. (EST). He died an hour later.

"From evidence we have at this time, only one man was involved," said Holloman. The assassin was described as a white man, six feet tall, 165-175 pounds, between 26 and 32 years old.

He fled from the flophouse, dropping the rifle and a suitcase in the doorway before he leaped into a late model white car and sped away. Holloman refused to divulge the contents of the suitcase.

But he said the assassin had bought a pair of binoculars in the city Thursday.

Presidential Appeal
Shock waves spread across the world. President Johnson cancelled his planned departure today for Honolulu to discuss Vietnam peace negotiations. He appeared on nationwide television two hours after the killing and urged citizens to "reject the blind violence that has struck Dr. King, who lived by nonviolence."

But Negroes battled police in Memphis, Tallahassee, Nashville and Raleigh. The National Guard was called out in Memphis, Nashville, Raleigh and Greensboro, N. C. The assistant police chief of Nashville was injured when Negroes stoned his car. Two Negroes were shot and wounded by police in Nashville and another was wounded in Raleigh, where two policemen were injured in a clash that resulted in the use of disabling gas.

Collision Is Reported By City Police
Two cars were involved in a collision Wednesday at nine p. m. during the rain at the intersection of 6th and Main Streets, according to Sgt. Max Morris and Patrolman Earl Stalls of the Murray Police Department.

Gary L. Brummer, Embassy Apartments, Murray, driving a 1965 Mustang two door owned by Louis J. Brummer of Mayon, Ill., Route Two, was going north on 6th Street, applied his brakes for the red light, but couldn't stop on the wet pavement, according to police.

The Brummer car hit the 1965 Volkswagen two door driven by William A. Parmley of Hart Hall, Murray State University, that was going west on Main Street as Brummer was unable to stop for the red light, according to the police report.

Damage to the Parmley car was on the left front fender and front end and to the Brummer car on the front end and right front fender.

SOLE SURVIVOR — "Mitzel" lies wounded and afraid in the rubble of her home. Her masters were killed early yesterday morning when a tornado reduced the home to a pile of rubble. Mitzel is the dog of Mr. and Mrs. Ladd, both of whom lost their lives in the high winds which struck Calloway County yesterday morning causing heavy property damage. The little dog was found in the rubble of the home near the purse of Mrs. Ladd which is located just above and to the right of Mitzel. The dog was injured in the tornado and refused to let anyone approach but efforts are underway to get the little dog and give it medical attention. Staff Photo by Ed Collins

Cleveland Editor Visits In Murray

Joseph H. Glasser, president and editor of West Side Newspapers, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, was a visitor in the office of the Ledger & Times on Wednesday.

Glasser and his wife were en route home from Tucson, Arizona and stopped by to get a copy of the Ledger & Times. He said they came through here each year after a stay in Arizona.

The West Side Newspapers published four newspapers in the area which are Parma Times, West Side News, Lakewood Ledger, and West Parker. He said the name of the Ledger & Times interests as they have papers using both names.

Workers should be on hand at 8:00 a.m. next Tuesday. Neighbors and farmers are asked to bring power saws, tractors and wagons.

Plans are being made to feed volunteer workers in the Dexter and Almo communities at the Almo Elementary School from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. and at the same time workers in the Concord area will be fed at the Concord Elementary school. Volunteers of the Calloway County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be in charge of the canteen, both of the schools, and with a mobile van which will be operating during the day.

The Calloway County Rescue Squad will furnish crew leaders to direct work groups.

The Calloway County Welfare Committee of the United Fund, the Calloway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and the

Workers Asked To Meet At Central Points In The Area

Calloway County Commodity Program will be furnishing the coffee and sandwiches for meals in the area. Any merchant or individual who wishes to contribute either food or money is urged to contact the Red Cross office, 753-1421 or 753-4395. The local Red Cross is coordinating the effort.

The windstorm grew in intensity on Wednesday night and about midnight winds of tornado strength touched down in several places in the county. One twister apparently jumped over the Kinsey area, then "let down" just east of Dexter, cutting a path through the Dexter-Almo area, continuing on through Aurora.

Another apparently hit in the New Concord area, jumped the lake, then struck at Cadiz and Princeton.

Extensive property damage occurred in Calloway County and two young people Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ladd of near Dexter were killed in the high winds.

A number of people were injured from the Aurora area and were brought to Murray for treatment. All but two were treated and released.

The funeral arrangements for Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ladd, who were fatally injured in the devastating tornado about midnight Wednesday, are incomplete pending the arrival of Mrs. Ladd's brother, Sgt. Lloyd Outland from Vietnam.

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Woman's virtue is Man's greatest invention" . . . Cornelia Otis Skinner.

Fellow said he didn't know which was going up, sister, prices or mini-skirts, but that he was keeping an eye on the situation.

An undertaker found a donkey lying dead in front of his premises and went to inform the police. "What am I to do with it?" he asked the officer in charge. The officer had a sense of humor.

"Do with it?" he asked with a grin. "Bury it, of course. You're an undertaker aren't you?"

"That's true," replied the undertaker with equal humor, "but I thought it only right to come round and inform the relatives first."

George Overbey in this morning and we were talking about the assassination of Martin Luther King in Memphis.

We agreed that this was a despicable act, regardless of what one might think of Dr. King. The person who killed him probably thought that he was doing something that many would applaud. He was mistaken.

When law and order breaks down, everybody loses. As George pointed out, law and order is a good friend to every man, especially the poor man. The rich man can hire bodyguards to protect him, but the poor man must rely on law and order. When this breaks down and anarchy rises, then the poor man is worse off than anyone else, because his only protection is gone.

Law enforcement officials have a great job on their hands, more so now than ever before, because law and order must be maintained at any cost.

Those who incite to riot should be dealt with sternly and quickly, otherwise we all will live to see anarchy in the streets.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"KILL THE UMPIRE!" For verbal pyrotechnics, few events can equal a hard-fought game of baseball. As a rule the sound and fury signify nothing serious.

But at times, matters do get out of hand. Suppose, for example, that the fan who yells "Kill the umpire!" really takes a swing at him.

What are the legal consequences? For one thing, the umpire may hold the fan liable for the damage he inflicts.

The law draws a sharp line between violent words and violent deeds. But there may be further complications.

Take this case: An umpire, slugged by an irate fan, decided that the real villain was the home team's peppy manager.

Suing the manager for damages, the umpire argued in court: "He kept heckling me all through the game.

He knew perfectly well that he was getting the local fans all worked up against me. Therefore, he was responsible for my injury.

But the court refused to pin legal liability on the manager. The judge said it would be unfair to blame a manager for the antics of every emotionally unstable person who might arrive at the game.

Furthermore, merely by taking on such a job in the first place, an umpire assumes a certain amount of risk.

In one case a college student, volunteering to umpire in a practice game, took up a position close behind the netting of the batting cage.

A fast foul ball thudded into the netting and struck the student in the eye.

In due course he sued the school for damages, complaining that there was too much slack in the netting.

But the court ruled that this was a risk he himself had assumed by standing in such a vulnerable spot.

Still, umpires do have the consolation of wielding vast power within the game itself.

According to Section 9.02 of the Official Baseball Rules, the umpire's call, on almost every question, is the final word on the subject.

With no appeal from his decisions, the umpire has the kind of authority that a judge on the bench might well envy.

One umpire displayed a keen sense of baseball law when he said: "They ain't strikes, they ain't balls; they ain't nothin' 'til I call 'em!"

Home Decorating News

By Edward Roberts

CONVENTIONAL SOLUTIONS to your own special decorating problems are the ones that come to mind first — but they are not always the best answers.

Since you want your interior decorator to be individual, highly personal, don't overlook the decorating drama of the unconventional.

Off-stage upholstered furniture is one good example of this principle. When you think of a sofa, chances are your first thought will be to choose one of average size, six or seven feet in length.

But look at your room and the space between windows. Would a smaller piece be better? You'll also gain more and interest to sit the ott. Or would your seating problem be better solved by an unusual sofa? Today you can buy sofas in every length, from a four-foot section to a dramatic seven-foot curved sofa.

So when you decorate, examine your problem, then ask a decorator to use the unconventional. Sit on the edge of the sofa; you'll find it's there in every sense in our time. They're here to answer to you. You'll find them interesting, too.

Remember we are open until 8:00 p.m. every Thursday and Friday.

COMMUNITY . . .

Outland, daughter of R. G. and Muriene Outland of Murray Route Two, is a 1966 graduate of Murray University School and attended Murray State University where she received a scholarship upon graduation from high school.

The young woman, age 19, had volunteered her services as a Sunday School worker at the First Baptist Church prior to her marriage to Mr. Ladd in July of last year.

Mr. Ladd, age 25, son of Mrs. Floye Malone of Dexter, is a graduate of Trigg County High School, and was employed with Jackie Burkeen, local building contractor. He was well liked by his fellow workers who said he was a good employee. He was a member of the Dexter Baptist Church. One of his brothers was reported killed in an automobile accident near Cadiz about six months ago.

The Ladds had visited in the home of her parents on Wednesday evening when the family had planned an Easter dinner to celebrate the arrival of their son and brother, Lloyd, who has served in Vietnam for the past year.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ladd were found nearby in fields from their demolished home. Mrs. Ladd was pronounced dead on arrival at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital about 11:40 p.m. Wednesday and Mr. Ladd died at 1:45 a.m. Thursday morning at the local hospital.

The home was located east of Dexter on Highway 1346 near the Johnny Ramsey home. Mrs. Ladd was found in a field some distance from the home and Ladd was lying in the lot of the Ramsey home located across the highway from the Ladd home.

Survivors of Mr. Ladd are his mother, Mrs. Floye Malone of Dexter; two sisters, Miss Mildred Ladd of Dexter and Mrs. Eugene (Jettie) Collins of Henderson; two brothers, Rev. Jesse Ladd and Hayden Ladd, both of Cadiz.

Mrs. Ladd is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Outland of Murray Route Two; five brothers, Jesse, Ray, Randy, and Ronnie Outland, all at home, and Sp. Lloyd Outland of Vietnam; one sister-in-law, Mrs. Lloyd (Sandy) Outland who resides with her husband's parents; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tryman Murphy, Peggy Ann Drive, and Mrs. Gayle Outland, 1305 Vine Street, Murray.

"Last Resort" Set Tonight By Sigma Chi

The Murray State University chapter of Sigma Chi national social fraternity will present its annual production of "The Last Resort" at 8 p.m. April 5 at the MSU auditorium.

This year's program will include talent by some of the Murray State students in addition to the traditional skits by the social sororities.

"A Look at MSU" will be the theme of the satirical skits by four of the sororities. Alpha Gamma Delta will open the skits as they view what would happen if the men had the coed regulations. Alpha Delta Pi will present a satirical view of the MSU Infirmary. Alpha Omicron Pi will do their rendition of the Thoroughly-Bad Hour, while Alpha Sigma Alpha will show their version of the Murray Judicial Board.

Last year Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority won the $50 first prize with their skit on "Moon Cheese and Moonzilla, the Moon Man."

The grand finale will be the traditional skit by the Sigma Chi chapter with this year's presentation entitled "Dante's Inferno." Highlighting the talent will be Kathy Farrell, star vocalist of this year's production of "Campus Lights." Other talent includes Dagny Rowland, a well-known folk singer on the MSU campus; several popular singing groups; and a small band and combo to back the performers and the skits.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be Ed Frank Jeffrey, a senior speech major from Murray.

"The Last Resort" is a take-off on the one time Last Resort Saloon and has been a yearly production of the Sigma Chi chapter of Murray State University since the early days of the local fraternity, Delta Alpha.

Tickets for the production can be obtained from any Sigma Chi member or pledge or can be purchased at the door this Friday and Saturday nights.

URGES DEVELOPMENT

LONDON (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Thant called Wednesday for a swift acceleration of world economic development efforts. His speech was delivered to the British U.N. association by David Owen, co-administrator of the U.N. development program.

Miss Sheila Cooper Complimented With Lovely Bridal Tea

The beautiful new home of Mrs. Don Treas was the setting for a lovely bridal tea honoring Miss Sheila Cooper, bride-elect of Tim Hendrickson, held on Saturday afternoon, March 30.

Miss Cooper chose to wear a yellow knit dress accented by a yellow flower pin. She was presented a white carnation corsage trimmed in yellow by the hostesses.

Her mother, Mrs. Hewlett Cooper, wore a navy blue knit suit and a gift corsage of white carnations. Miss Cynthia Cooper, sister of the bride-elect, presided at the register table which was decorated with a bud vase of yellow daffodils.

Guests were served from a lovely table covered with lace over green. Crystal appointments were used to serve the lime green punch and tea cakes decorated with tiny yellow rosebuds.

The many guests were served and shown the honoree's gifts by the hostesses who were Mrs. Don Treas, Mrs. Tommy Story, Mrs. Isaac Adams, Mrs. Hafford Adams, Jr., and Mrs. Mike Charlton.

So You Think You Know Your Name

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary who is in constant touch with the writing public, and as such I am amazed at the number of otherwise informed women who do not know how to sign their names.

The worst offenders are divorcees. Widows are a close second. Abby, will you do the women of the world a great service and tell them once and for all how to properly sign their names?

NANCY SUE BIGBIE (MRS. PETER G.)
DEAR MRS. BIGBIE: First, one should be aware that there is a difference between one's "signature" (name) and one's "title" (Miss or Mrs., which is never a part of one's signature).

For instance, your signature is "Nancy Sue Bigbie," and your title is "Mrs. Peter G.," which you have properly indicated under your signature in parenthesis.

Margaret Truman Daniel would sign herself, "Margaret Daniel," and in parenthesis, under her signature, she would place "Mrs. E. Clifton, Jr."

A widow ALWAYS retains her husband's title. So Jacqueline Kennedy would sign herself "Jacqueline Kennedy," and in parenthesis she would add, "Mrs. John F." (She is NOT "Mrs. JACQUELINE Kennedy.")

A divorcee signs herself, "Mary Rockefeller." But her title is "Mrs. Clark Rockefeller" ("Clark" being her maiden name). Never does she use "Mrs. Nelson A.," because that is no longer her title.

It is good to know that one's social signature is not the same as one's legal signature, so before signing legal documents, always consult your attorney. Any questions?
Sincerely, Abigail Van Buren (Miss)
P.S. Which reminds me: A professional woman is always "Miss"

of her own, but expects me to include her with mine. If she is left out she pouts and will not speak to me for weeks.

I would like to move into a place of my own, but every time I bring it up my mother cries and says I don't "love" her and that I am selfish. The Guns of Judgment Day
Cliff Farrell's new Western thriller
From the Doubleday & Co. novel; Copyright © 1967, by Cliff Farrell. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.
CHAPTER 22
SIDNEY KAIN needed directly for Mack's Place, and came hurrying in. "Mack!" he exclaimed. "Do you know who that fellow really is who Kate Royal hired?"
He became aware that Dan was standing at the bar. He stood petrified, his voice choking off in a gulp. Then he tacked out of the saloon and hurried down the street.
Mack went to the window and stared in amazement. "You'd have thought Sid Kain had seen the devil!" he said.
"Maybe you guessed it," Dan said.
He left Mack gaping and walked out of the saloon. Sidney Kain, leaning over his shoulder, was ducking into Slim Ricker's hotel. Dan moved down the street to the mercantile and entered.
Obediah Willitt must have been at a peep-hole, for he emerged from his office like a jack-in-the-box. He came hurrying down the length of the room. "Well, well!" he boomed. "It's Dan Driscoll, ain't it. If I recollect the name right? What can I do for you, friend?"
"I'm thinkin' of stakin' out a claim for myself down on the river," Dan said. "I want to know if you'll carry me for food an' possibilities for a few weeks. He was deliberately making a mockery of his newly assumed role as an uneducated man.
Obie Willitt studied him for a moment with unreadable eyes. "You ever done any sid-bustin', brother?" he asked.
"Nope," Dan said. "But I'm handy at other things." He let an eyelid droop slightly in a wink.
"Any ridin' for Spanish Bell," Dan said. "I'll do my provin' up on the claim on the side. They pay pretty well out there for the right kind of work."
"I might carry you on the books for a while," Willitt said. "Anybody who works for Bill an' Kate Royal is welcome here."
Dan bought a supply of tobacco, two shirts and a few other necessities. When Willitt added up the bill, he laid a goldpiece on the counter.
Willitt's brows lifted. "You was askin' for credit," he said. "As long as I got dinero there's no use goin' into debt," Dan said.
"Nor to an early grave," Willitt said, sounding his booming laugh. "Now, that's somethin' I really aim to avoid," Dan said.

Miss Sheila Cooper Complimented With Lovely Bridal Tea

The beautiful new home of Mrs. Don Treas was the setting for a lovely bridal tea honoring Miss Sheila Cooper, bride-elect of Tim Hendrickson, held on Saturday afternoon, March 30.

Miss Cooper chose to wear a yellow knit dress accented by a yellow flower pin. She was presented a white carnation corsage trimmed in yellow by the hostesses.

Her mother, Mrs. Hewlett Cooper, wore a navy blue knit suit and a gift corsage of white carnations. Miss Cynthia Cooper, sister of the bride-elect, presided at the register table which was decorated with a bud vase of yellow daffodils.

Guests were served from a lovely table covered with lace over green. Crystal appointments were used to serve the lime green punch and tea cakes decorated with tiny yellow rosebuds.

The many guests were served and shown the honoree's gifts by the hostesses who were Mrs. Don Treas, Mrs. Tommy Story, Mrs. Isaac Adams, Mrs. Hafford Adams, Jr., and Mrs. Mike Charlton.

So You Think You Know Your Name

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary who is in constant touch with the writing public, and as such I am amazed at the number of otherwise informed women who do not know how to sign their names.

The worst offenders are divorcees. Widows are a close second. Abby, will you do the women of the world a great service and tell them once and for all how to properly sign their names?

NANCY SUE BIGBIE (MRS. PETER G.) DEAR MRS. BIGBIE: First, one should be aware that there is a difference between one's "signature" (name) and one's "title" (Miss or Mrs., which is never a part of one's signature).

For instance, your signature is "Nancy Sue Bigbie," and your title is "Mrs. Peter G.," which you have properly indicated under your signature in parenthesis.

Margaret Truman Daniel would sign herself, "Margaret Daniel," and in parenthesis, under her signature, she would place "Mrs. E. Clifton, Jr."

A widow ALWAYS retains her husband's title. So Jacqueline Kennedy would sign herself "Jacqueline Kennedy," and in parenthesis she would add, "Mrs. John F." (She is NOT "Mrs. JACQUELINE Kennedy.")

A divorcee signs herself, "Mary Rockefeller." But her title is "Mrs. Clark Rockefeller" ("Clark" being her maiden name). Never does she use "Mrs. Nelson A." because that is no longer her title.

DEAR ABBY: Ray and I have been engaged for two years, and together we've furnished the apartment we hope to occupy after we marry next summer. Ray has just moved into it and he pays the rent.

Ray's mother flew in from Canada, where she lives, and when she saw our beautifully furnished apartment she said, "I think I'll send Betsy down here. She's getting over a broken love affair and the change will do her good." (Betsy is Ray's 20-year-old sister.)

Abby, our apartment has only the one bedroom with a large double bed, so if Betsy came, either she or Ray would have to sleep on the sofa. I've seen Betsy, and she weighs more than Ray (he's 200), and I don't want our lovely new sofa all broken down from being slept on nightly.

Besides, if Betsy decides she likes it here, then what? I don't want to start my married life with three in an apartment.

Should I tell Ray how I feel? I don't want him to think I'm selfish. And I don't want his mother to take a dislike to me, but I don't think it's fair for Ray's mother to invite her daughter to make herself at home in our apartment before I move into it or am I wrong?

TORN IN BUFFALO DEAR TORN: No, I don't think you're wrong. Tell Ray how you feel, and let him handle it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old woman and live with my mother. She is attractive, in her mid-fifties, in very good health and she has a good job.

Altho she drives her own car, she will not go anywhere in the evening unless I take her. She makes no effort to have friends of her own, but expects me to include her with mine. If she is left out she pouts and will not speak to me for weeks.

I would like to move into a place of my own, but every time I bring it up my mother cries and says I don't "love" her and that I am selfish. I DO love her, but I just have to start living a life of my own. I have two married sisters and a married brother who also think I'm selfish if I don't include my mother in everything I do. If I were to move, we would still be in the same city, and I would see her often. Please tell me what to do. BEWILDERED

Dean Chance Ready For New Season

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Dean Chance, who ended last season on the wrong foot, seems to be ready to start this year's campaign on the right one.

Chance posted a 20-14 record in his first season for the Minnesota Twins last year and was largely responsible for keeping the disheartened team in the exciting American League pennant race until the final day.

But on the last day, with the pennant hanging in the balance, he couldn't hold a .50 lead and the Twins lost it all.

Chance pitched seven innings of shutout ball Thursday night as the Twins stopped the Houston Astros 3-1 at the Astrodome.

Warming up for his opening day stint Monday against the Washington Senators, Chance stopped the Astros on just two hits. Ron Perranoski finished up for the Twins and allowed the only run in the ninth inning.

Stottlemire in shape to recover from a stiff shoulder also tuned up for an opening day assignment with six strong innings as the New York Yankees whipped Washington 8-2.

Stottlemire, who was tagged for two runs in the first inning but then survived six more innings before giving way to reliever Phil Regan, Tom Haller hit a two-run homer in the second inning for the Dodgers.

Ken Boswell's two-run homer in the first inning and the four-hit pitching of Jerry Koosman and Danny Frisella carried the New York Mets to a 6-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants. Gaylor Perry took the loss.

Cubs Top Chisox

The Chicago Cubs rapped Gary Peters for seven runs on five hits in the first inning and went on to blast the Chicago White Sox 11-6. Two errors and two walks by Peters helped ignite the rally which featured a double by Lou Johnson and two-run single by Randy Hundley. Johnson left the game in the third inning with a pulled groin muscle.

Rick Morady led a 14-hit attack with two singles and a double as the Oakland Athletics blasted the St. Louis Cardinals 12-2. A pair of rookie pitchers, Mike Torrez and Hal Gibson, were the victims of the outburst. Jim Hunter pitched four-hit ball for six innings to get the win.

The Philadelphia Phillies blanked Boston 5-0 on the seventh pitching of Larry Jackson. Gary Wagner and Dick Hall, Jackson went the first six innings. Tony Taylor homered in the sixth off Dick Ellsworth to break a scoreless tie.
