Hurry Up!

UNIVERSITY PARK. Pa. (UPI) — Everyone 21 years old or older should make a will, advises Helen E. Bell, home management specialist at Pennsylvania State University. Making a will is one of the most important acts in an adult's life. A will states in writing just how one's possessions are to be divided. If no will exists, the state will then determine the division.

With the help of a competent lawyer, a will protects persons nearest to an individual from legal complications, possible squabbles, injustice, expense and general unhappiness, she said.
