Astronauts Preparing For Lunar Orbits; All Is OK

By AL ROSSITER JR., UPI Space Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — America's Apollo 8 astronauts approached the grip of the moon's gravity today with everything "go" for a momentous swing into lunar orbit early Christmas Eve.
"Everything looks good for the lunar orbit," said flight director Glynn Lunney as Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders entered the third day of their daring six-day, half-million-mile round trip. They already had traveled far enough to guarantee at least a pass around the back of the moon before heading back to earth.
Barring any last minute problems, they will trigger their big rocket engine at 4:50 a.m. EST Tuesday to drop into the first of 10 loops around the moon. The final, formal, clearance for the crucial maneuver

Rev. Markham Is Speaker On Sunday

Rev. O. C. Markham was the guest minister at the morning services of the First Baptist Church in the absence of the pastor, Dr. H. C. Chiles, who is ill.
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Churchill, Jr., were the guest singers for the morning service.
The annual Christmas program by the five choirs of the church, directed by W. Rudolph Howard, minister of music, was presented at the five p. m. service.
It was announced that the mid-week prayer service and other activities at the church will not be held this week.

Christmas Service Planned At Church

"Christmas Eve Through The Centuries" will be the theme of a Candlelight Christmas Service in First Christian Church on Tuesday evening at 7:30. This family style service, will center on: the first Christmas Eve, the first Christmas Eve service, Christmas Eve in the 9th century, Christmas Eve following the Reformation, the first Christmas Eve service in America, Christmas Eve a century ago, and Christmas Eve tonight.
Candles will be distributed to the congregation as they enter. During the singing of Silent Night at the conclusion of the service, the candles will be raised on high.
Christmas anthems and carols will be sung by the Chancel and Junior Choirs, directed by Leonard Whitmer and Mrs. William Porter, the organist will be Mrs. Art Wilkinson.
The public is invited to prepare for a meaningful celebration of Christmas by being present at 7:30 tomorrow night in First Christian Church.

Dr. Frank Kodman Speaks "Suicides And Homicides"

Dr. Frank Kodman, director of the psychological center and professor of psychology at Murray State University, was the speaker for the National Secretaries Association International, Paducah, at the dinner meeting at the Continental Inn last Tuesday.
"Suicides and Homicides" was the subject of his talk. He said "we can start solving some of our nation's difficulties by first of all, as citizens, recognizing and facing up to our social problems."
Dr. Kodman quoted statistics for the nation's suicides and homicides according to geographic distribution, ages, sex, economic and social factors. Turning to the state scene, Dr. Kodman said that Kentucky has the highest rate of homicides per 1,000 population and West Virginia has the lowest rate.
The speaker is a member of the Kentucky Crime Commission and is a consultant as well as member of the Board of Examiners at Kentucky State Penitentiary.
Dr. Kodman also serves as consultant to the Governor's Advisory Council in the Department of Child Welfare, is a licensed psychologist in the state of Kentucky, and has published over 60 scientific papers and research studies.

Lutheran Service Planned Tuesday

A Family Candlelight Service will be held at the Immanuel Lutheran Church at seven p. m. on Christmas Eve.
In this service the children of the Sunday School will tell the message of Christmas in verse and song. An impressive candle-lighting ceremony will conclude the service.
The public is cordially invited to attend.

36th Wreck For Month Is Reported

The 36th traffic accident report for the month of December in the city of Murray was filed by the investigating officers of the Murray Police Department Saturday at 11:53 p.m. No injuries were reported.
Cars involved were a 1968 Camaro two door hardtop driven by Scott Vincent Wright of Mayfield, and a 1959 Chevrolet four door sedan owned by Lucille Byrd Rollins of 1200 Main Street, Murray.
Police said Wright, going north on 12th near Main Street, told them that he took off from the intersection, lost control and slid into the right side of the Rollins car parked on the left side of 12th Street.
Damage to the Wright car was on the left front fender, front bumper, and hood, and to the Rollins car on the right rear door and right rear fender.

Firemen Called To Assist Getting Men From Water

The Murray Fire Department was called out Sunday morning at 3:30 to assist in getting three young men out of a car that had gone off the road into a water filled ditch in the Clarks River area on Highway 94 East.
Firemen said the men were all able to get out of the car, and they assisted them in getting out of the water. The car, a 1968 Ford, was pulled from the water by a wrecker.
Jimmy Jeffrey, Billy Reed, and another unidentified person, were in the car at the time it went into the ditch.
Reed, age 18, of 206 Cherry Street, was admitted to the hospital at 3:40 a.m. Sunday for observation, but was discharged the same day.
TWO ARRESTED
The Sheriff's office arrested one person for public drunkenness on Saturday, and one person for assault and battery following a family brawl on Sunday.

Mrs. James Is Injured

Mrs. Richard (Ola Mae) James of New Concord is listed in fair condition this morning by the Murray-Calloway County Hospital after being injured in a one car accident Saturday afternoon.
Hospital officials said she was admitted at 4:45 p.m. She had a laceration to the back of the head and was admitted for observation. After being x-rayed it was found she had a back injury and will be hospitalized for two or three weeks.
The accident occurred on the New Concord Road, Highway 121, near Wischart's Grocery. The Chevrolet she was driving skidded on the wet slick road and the car went into the ditch.
Mrs. James is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Burkeen of Almo. Mr. and Mrs. James have two daughters, Lesia and Lori.

Transmission Is Reported Stolen

A Muncia transmission with Hurst shift was stolen from Walston's Texaco Station, South 12th Street, sometime between Friday at 10:30 p. m. and Saturday at six a. m., according to the report made to the Murray Police Department.
Rob Walston, Jr., made the report to the Police Saturday at nine a. m.

Beaten, Clubbed Men Are Humiliated And Released

By LEON DANIEL, PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) — Kicked and clubbed but unbowed, the 82 survivors of the USS Pueblo today walked through a snowstorm out of North Korean captivity and into freedom in time for Christmas at home.
The United States denounced but signed a "garbage apology" to free the men from their captor, Lt. Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher called "The most concentrated form of terror I have ever seen." He said the torture grew worst as freedom neared.
Some of the Pueblo crew smiled when they streamed across the snowcovered bridge into this North-South Korean truce village. Some wept. But all ended their 11-month ordeal with heads held high.
Bucher denounced the seizure of his intelligence ship Jan. 23, denied having steered into North Korean waters and told newsmen, "I surrendered the ship because there was nothing but a slaughter out there and I couldn't see allowing any more people to be slaughtered or killed the entire crew for no reason." He described the beating, clubbing and kicking of his men by Communist captors.
But his voice rang loudest in paying tribute to his men: "They never once lost their spirit or faith in the United States of America. Never once did they give me any cause for concern."
"They were so typically American that they thoroughly confused our captors. This happened on so many different occasions."
"I had people come to me and (Continued on Back Page)

W. E. Dick Dies Sunday

William Ernest Dick of 600 Vine Street was claimed by death Sunday at 3:50 a.m. He was 86 years of age and died at the Convalescent Division of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.
The deceased was preceded in death by his wife, Joan, on April 28, 1967. Since that time he had made his home with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ocus Dick, 600 Vine Street.
Mr. Dick was a retired farmer and a member of the New Concord Church of Christ and of the Woodmen of the World. Survivors are his daughter-in-law, three nephews, Ewin Dick of Murray, Milton Dick of Nashville, Tenn., and Lloyd Lawson of New Concord; two nieces, Mrs. Vida Garrett of Murray and Mrs. Auburna Holstead of Akron, Ohio.
Funeral services were held today at one p.m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with Bro. Bill Threet and Bro. Gerald Ellison officiating.
Pallbearers were John Richard Hendon, Thomas Hendon, Ollie Knight Stubblefield, Ewin Stubblefield, Madison Wells Stubblefield, and Charlie Stubblefield.
Burial was in the Murray Cemetery with the arrangements by the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home.

Murray Man Passes Away

Alvin Outland of 211 South 11th Street, Murray, succumbed Saturday at 6:15 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.
The deceased was 76 years of age and was the son of John D. Outland and Mary Frances Hale Outland. He was born February 21, 1892.
Mr. Outland and his wife, the former Zora E. Calhoun, would have been married 56 years on December 29 of this year. Mr. Outland, assisted by his wife, was the custodian of the First Baptist Church for 23 years. He was forced to discontinue his duties with the church, where he was a member, when he suffered a stroke in September 1960.
Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Outland, 211 South 11th Street; one daughter, Mrs. Jack (Mary Martha) Jones, Murray Route Five; two sons, Herman Outland of Memphis, Tenn., and Raymond Outland of Murfreesboro, Tenn.; one brother, Burnett Outland of 210 South 9th Street, Murray; nine grandchildren; nine great grandchildren.
Funeral services were held today at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. B. R. Winchester and Rev. Norman Culpepper officiating.
Active pallbearers were Roy Lassiter, Beaton Lassiter, Raymond David Outland, Bobby J. Smith, Rayburn D. McKnight, Kenneth McKnight, Harold Lassiter, and Moses Outland.
The Clayborne Jones Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church served as an honorary group.
Interment was in the Murray Cemetery with the arrangements by the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home.

The Commercial Appeal

Jesus, The Perfect Man

(Reprinted, in response to numerous requests, as written by the late C. P. J. Mooney for The Commercial Appeal of Dec. 22, 1912.)

THERE IS no other character in history like that of Jesus. As a preacher, as a doer of things, and as a philosopher, no man has ever had the sweep and vision of Jesus. A human analysis of the human actions of Jesus brings to view a rule of life that is amazing in its perfect detail. The system of ethics Jesus taught during his earthly sojourn 2,000 years ago was true then, has been true in every century since and will be true forever.

PLATO was a great thinker and learned in his age, but his teachings did not stand the test of time. In big things and in little things time and human experience have shown that he erred. Marcus Aurelius touched the reflective mind of the world, but he was as cold and austere as brown marble. The doctrine of Confucius gave a great nation moral and mental dry rot. The teachings of Buddha resulted in mental and moral chaos that makes India derelict. Mohammed offered a system of ethics which was adopted by millions of people. Now their children live in deserts where once there were cities, along dry rivers where once there was moisture, and in shadows of gray, barren hills where once there was greenness. Thomas Aquinas was a profound philosopher, but parts of his system have been abandoned. Francis of Assisi was Christlike in his saintliness, but in some respects he was childish. Thomas a Kempis' Imitation of Christ is a thing of rare beauty and sympathy but it is, as its name indicates, only an imitation. Sir Thomas More's Utopia is yet a dream and cannot be realized. Lord Bacon's writing on chemistry and medicine under the glasses of the man in a 20th Century laboratory is puerile. The world's most learned doctors until 150 years ago gave dragon's blood and the ground-dried tails of lizards and shells of eggs for certain ailments. The great surgeons of a hundred years ago bled a man if he were wounded. Napoleon had the world at his feet for four years, and when he died the world was going on its way as if he had never lived. Jesus taught little as to property because He knew there were more important things than property. He measured property and life, the body and soul, at their exact relative value. He taught much as to property, because character was more important than dollars. Other men taught us to develop systems of government. Jesus taught us so as to perfect the minds of men. Jesus looked at the soul, while other men dwell on more material things. After the experience of 2,000 years, no man can find a flaw in the governmental system outlined by Jesus. Czar and kaiser, president and socialist, give to its complete merit their admiration. No man today, no matter whether he follows the doctrine of Mills, Marx or George as to property, can find a false principle in Jesus' theory of property. IN THE DUTY of man to his fellows, no sociologist has ever approximated the perfection of the doctrine laid down by Jesus in His Sermon on the Mount. Not all the investigations of chemists, not all the discoveries of explorers, not all the experiences of rulers, not all the historical facts that go to make up the sum of human knowledge on this day in 1912 are in contradiction to one word uttered or one principle laid down by Jesus. The human experience of 2,000 years shows that Jesus never made a mistake. Jesus never uttered a doctrine that was true at the time and then became obsolete. Jesus spoke the truth: He lived the truth; and truth is eternal.

HISTORY has no record of any other man leading a perfect life or doing everything in logical order. Jesus is the only person whose every action and every utterance strike a true note in the heart of every man born of woman. He never said a foolish thing, never did a foolish act and never dissembled. No poet, no dreamer, no philosopher loved humanity with the love that Jesus bore toward all men. Who, then, was Jesus? He could not have been merely a man, for there was never a man who had two consecutive thoughts absolutely in truthful perfection. Jesus must have been what Christendom proclaims Him to be - a divine being - or He could not have been what He was. No mind but an infinite mind could have left behind those things which Jesus gave to the world as a heritage.

A BATTLE FOR the football develops as Baltimore's Willie Richardson (87) and Minnesota's Earnest Mackbee try to claim a pass thrown by Colt quarterback Earl Morrall. The pass fell incomplete, but Richardson made up for this by catching six others for 148 yards in a 24-14 victory at Baltimore.

Colts Top Vikings For Western Conference Title

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

BALTIMORE UPI - There's nothing really very complicated about the Baltimore Colts' formula for success.

The Colts send their defensive team charging in wave after wave like an invading army until the other team either cracks, or the Colts' offensive unit finally gets around to scoring some points.

All the teams, or at least all but Cleveland have eventually cracked under the pounding of the defensive unit paced by Mike Curtis, Bubba Smith, Dennis Gatz, and their cohorts.

That's just what happened Sunday when the Colts manhandled the Minnesota Vikings 24-14 to win the Western Conference crown and advance to the National Football League title game against the Cleveland Browns.

The Browns are the only team which didn't crack in the 15 games the Colts have played this season. The Colts are determined to avenge the 30-20 defeat at the hands of the Browns in the regular season, and go on to the Super Bowl. Cleveland is 11-4.

Different This Time

"It'll be different this time," vowed Curtis, whose 60-yard dash with a recovered fumble with

Defense Takes Over

And then the Colt defense finally tore the game apart. Curtis' run came just two minutes and one second after Mackey caught a pass over the middle that floated above the outstretched hands of linebacker Roy Winston. Mackey then blew past the two safeties, Karl Kasulke and Paul Krause, and dashed into the end zone to complete a 49-yard play.

Three plays later, quarterback Joe Kapp went back to pass and ends Bubba Smith and Braase led the charge. Bubba hit him from the left side just as Braase was tearing in from the right and Billy Ray Smith was coming in straight on.

The Colts, who are now 6-4-18-3, in six years under Shula including two Western Conference crowns, will now try to win the NFL crown for the first time since 1959 and avenge the 1964 title game loss 27-0 to the Browns.

Pistol Pete Leads Nation With 47.4 PPG Average

By DAVID MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

For a fellow who wasn't going to shoot for another national scoring title, defending champion Pete Maravich of Louisiana State is pumping 'em in at a pretty good clip.

In fact, with his nation-leading 47.4 ppg average, "Pistol Pete" is actually ahead of his 1967-68 pace when, although only a sophomore, he raised the NCAA record to 43.8 ppg.

Through five games a year ago, Maravich had scored 225 points—a 45 ppg average. He's got 237 points in his first five games this season and has the Bengals off to a 4-1 start that includes Saturday's 99-66 victory over previously unbeaten Georgia—a victory toward which the lanky Maravich contributed 47 points.

Back in early September, in a private interview in Baton Rouge, La., "Pistol Pete" insisted he wasn't going after the scoring title again.

"Let someone else have it," the son of the LSU basketball coach said. "This year, I'm going to specialize in ball handling."

"Pistol Pete" has indeed been a fancy dan with the basketball—but still the points come. He has 52 against Loyola La., 38 against Clemson, 55 in a double-overtime loss to Tulane, 45 in an overtime win over Florida—and then the 47 against Georgia which had won five in a row before bowing to Pete and his pals.

The folks in the Southwest get a chance to see "Pistol Pete" in action this week when he leads the Bengals into the eight-team All College tournament at Oklahoma City. The tournament should be a pretty good test for Maravich since it includes 11th-ranked St. Bonaventure, highly regarded Wyoming and Tulane—the only team to beat LSU so far this season.

Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Miami Fla. and Virginia Tech all won basketball tournaments this past weekend.

The 8th-ranked Wildcats, paced by Dan Issel who had 56 points, beat Michigan 112-104 and Army 80-65 to win the

LIONS PREP

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. AP - The undefeated Penn State football team began two-day workouts today in preparation for its Orange Bowl encounter against Kansas New Year's night.

The Nittay Lions arrived in Florida Saturday afternoon. Coach Joe Paterno brought a squad of 66 players for the post-season game in Miami.

DAVIS KO'S REYES

MEXICO CITY AP - Welterweight Fate Davis of Akron, Ohio, trapped on the ropes and in trouble early in the bout, caught his opponent with a short left that gave the American an eighth round knockout over Ray Reyes of Mexico City Saturday night.

Hickman County's Alan Barclay (with trophy), James Crume (No. 11), and Fay Jordan (partially hidden by Crume) accept the 1st Place Trophy from Howard Crittenden, Calloway High's principal, at the conclusion of the tournament Saturday night.

Hickman County Is Winner Of Christmas Tournament

The Hickman County Falcons defeated the Mayfield Cardinals 60-50 to take first place in the Calloway County Christmas Tournament Saturday night while the Calloway County Lakers avenged a semi-final round loss to the Cardinals by topping the South Marshall Rebels 69-64 in the consolation game.

The championship game was a see-saw battle from the start and neither team could get in front until the fourth period when the Falcons took advantage of the Cardinals cold shooting (Mayfield was 0 for 6 from the field in the fourth quarter) and pumped in fifteen points to take the lead and keep it.

The Calloway County Lakers had trouble with the South Marshall Rebels during the first three periods of play in the consolation game as South was ahead at the end of each of the periods. In the fourth frame the Lakers found their mark and took the lead on a basket by Charles Rushing with 3:03 remaining in the game.

Rushing led the Lakers in scoring by ripping the nets for 21 points. Dennis Sears followed with 14 points and Darrell Cleaver pushed through 12 points.

Gary McGregor and Richard Perry each pumped in 17 points to lead the Rebels scoring and Russell Palmer added

BOYS SUFFOCATE IN REFRIGERATOR—A police officer carries the body of 4-year-old Donald Kaiser after the boy and a friend were found suffocated in a refrigerator in Columbus, Ohio. At the right a neighbor consoles the boy's mother, Mrs. Milton Kaiser.

SELF-HELP—Noland Clay, 11, Apache Indian representative of Indian tribes participating in self-help programs in 25 states, autographs a copy of a book about his life for Sen. On Land or Sea

Vacation Knits Should Play Comfort Roles

POLO TYPE shirt "seat cover" can go solo over bikini pants or worn two ways with slacks and shorts; tucked in or over.

SHORT-SLEEVED "seat cover" has a V neck and button front. It can be used as micro shift or as swim suit cover-up.

By TAD ROWADY

THERE is a tendency at this time of the year to flee from winter, boot-wearing and layers of clothing to some sunny warm climate where a minimum of casual wear is the order of the day.

The shirts—or micro shifts, if you will—can be teamed up of course with slacks, shorts, mobile skirts and blue jeans. Or they can serve poolside railside or seaside as cover-up for bikinis and bathing suits. Used as polo shirts, they can be worn tucked into the band of a pair of color-coordinate slacks or shorts and topped by a smooth blazer to match pants or shorts.

The culotte and the white skimmer speak for themselves but a plus for all: They will travel like handkerchiefs in a minimum of space and with a minimum of care. Just roll them up and tuck them in any suitcase corner. They will emerge ununsoiled.

Cruising, sailing, sightseeing, beach combing or spectating South now, North later these will serve many purposes. All sorts of double-duty ideas will come to mind for the shifts if your fashion ingenuity is clicking at its colorful best as they are highly functional.

Roberts Home Is Scene Of Ladies Class Meeting

The Ladies Adult Sunday School Class of the Northside Baptist Church met at the lovely home of the teacher, Mrs. Thelma Roberts, on Wednesday, December 18, for a Christmas potluck dinner. Mrs. Estelle Lovett presented an inspiring devotion followed by prayer by Mrs. Helen Hubbs. Several Bible quiz games were played with prizes being won by Mrs. Christine Graham, Mrs. Ann Jones, and Mrs. Pearl Graham. The class presented the teacher with a lovely gift and Mrs. Roberts expressed her appreciation. Mrs. Katie Turner and Mrs. Helen Hubbs, two class members unable to attend Sunday School, were given poinsettias. Six members were unable to attend due to illness or work. Gifts to the members were given them by Mrs. Roberts. The potluck dinner was served in the spacious dining room of the Roberts home. Those present were Mesdames Essie Blakey, Mollie Keel, Helen Hubbs, Norene Schneider, Lucy Dugger, Lovell Boyd, Willie Fattrell, Pearl Graham, Juanita Stallons, Neva Miller, Ann Jones, Christine Graham, Estelle Lovett, Barbara Dugger, and the hostess.

Bankhead Forest
HALEYVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Bankhead National Forest, named after the father of actress Tallulah Bankhead, is the oldest in Alabama, having been established in 1913. Its 178,895 acres include limestone canyons, old growth hardwood and clear lakes. The forest is hunting for deer, turkey and small game, while abundant bass and bream await fishermen. Park events include riding, hiking, rock hunting, photography and sightseeing.

Dear Abby

In-law 'Sells Out' Early Yule Shopper

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I feel so terrible I could cry. I just got a phone call from my sister-in-law and she said, "I hope you aren't giving us anything for Christmas because we bought a new car, and we aren't giving any presents this year—not even to the kids."

DEAR UNDECIDED: Deliver the gifts and tell your sister-in-law that the true spirit of giving is giving for the joy of it—with no thoughts of what one may get in return, so she doesn't feel that she "owes" you anything. And explain this to your children, too.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a couple tells you they might come over on such and such a night?

DEAR V. AND R.: When they tell you they "might" come over, tell them you "might" be home. Then do as you please.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that a once-married woman who is currently divorced is referred to as a "divorcee," but a man who has been divorced six times reclaims his "bachelor" status during the time he is single?

DEAR RESENTFUL: There is no female equivalent for "bachelor." Unmarried women are referred to as "maiden ladies," "spinsters," and "old maids," which usually implies they were left on the shelf. "Unclaimed treasure" is infinitely more generous. "Bachelor girls" and "career girls" suggest independent women, or women who don't like men, which is worse.

But what's in a name? A bachelor is still a man who comes to work from a different direction every morning, and a woman is either married, divorced, widowed, not interested, or available. Heaven help us. It's a man's world.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHOULD IT" In New London, Conn.: A new nose may give you new self-confidence, but remember: A plastic surgeon can shorten your nose, but if you have blamed all your shortcomings on a long nose, you're in for a big disappointment.

Nature's Palette Garden Club Has Meet Wednesday

The Nature's Palette Garden Club held its annual Christmas dinner meeting on Wednesday, December 18, at the Community Center on Ellis Drive. Mrs. Ila Douglass and Mrs. Lola Fisk were hostesses with each member bringing a covered dish for the dinner. Mrs. Charles Stubblefield presided over a brief business meeting following the dinner. Gifts were exchanged by the group with Mrs. I. H. Key drawing the door prize. Christmas carols were sung and slides of various interests were shown by Mrs. R. Q. Knight.

New Policy

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (UPI)—Brookgreen Gardens, site of the world's largest collection of outdoor statuary, will be open 365 days a year under a new policy that also established the first paid admissions in its 36-year history. G.L. Tarbox, Brookgreen director, said admission charges of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for minors make possible the 52-day expansion of Brookgreen's service to the public as well as major new construction. Anon-profit institution, Brookgreen Gardens is located on Route 17, 15 miles south of Myrtle Beach.

Maternity Habits Rock the Mother

By ANNA VIRTUE

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Having a baby in Brazil can be a family affair in more ways than one. For any type of patient, a member of the family usually sleeps in the same hospital room. A special bed is provided for this purpose. Meals also can be taken with the patient.

But nowhere is this practice more common than with maternity patients. All but the most humble mothers-to-be are accompanied by their husbands, sister, mother or mother-in-law.

The practice of a sleep-in companion has two roots, one practical and the other traditional. First of all, there is a shortage of nurses, so the companion attends to the patient's immediate needs. Then there is the reluctance of the Latin husband to have his wife go about unaccompanied.

Brazilians are surprised by foreigners who do not bring along a sleep-in companion when they're hospitalized. One can imagine the astonishment when a mother-to-be arrives alone at the hospital at 7 a.m. as happened to me when my husband was out of the city.

Not only that, but I hadn't brought along my suitcase for I did not know whether the pains were a false alarm. Unlike in North America, the Brazilian mother-to-be must take to the hospital the baby's complete layette.

The list of baby clothes requested by the hospital includes: Four dozen diapers; two dozen flannel receiving blankets; 6 long-sleeved, fine cotton shirts with collars; 6 sleeveless, fine cotton undershirts called "pagan shirts" because they're worn by the baby when he's still too young for baptisms; four wool sweaters; four pairs of booties; and one shawl.

Several times a day a nurse comes in for fresh clothes, leaving behind a pile of dirty diapers. The diapers are washed at home and returned to the hospital.

The nurses wrap the baby like a mummy in his receiving blanket instead of putting him in a nightgown as in North America. The first day he is always dressed in yellow as a sign of good fortune.

There are many superstitions and old wives' tales associated with the newborn in Brazil. The foreign mother inevitably hears about these after she has done the opposite.

For instance, the umbilical cord is never thrown away after falling off. It should be buried on a ranch so that the baby will grow up to be a rich man. If there's no ranch handy, it can be buried in a flower bed; this practice is supposed to bring good luck.

Superstition dictates that a baby should not be taken out of his room on his seventh day, but in this case there was some basis of fact. A form of tetanus, once common among Brazilian babies born at home under unhygienic conditions manifested itself on the seventh day.

Irish Bargain

NEW YORK (UPI)—A free day for every week they spend in Ireland is offered to tourists visiting that country this May, says the Irish Tourist Board.

A special reduction also is available to visitors who prefer to travel throughout Ireland rather than stay in one fixed location. Information about the "May Plan" can be obtained by writing to the Irish Tourist Board, 590 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10036.

Christmas Dinner Party Held By The B&PW Club

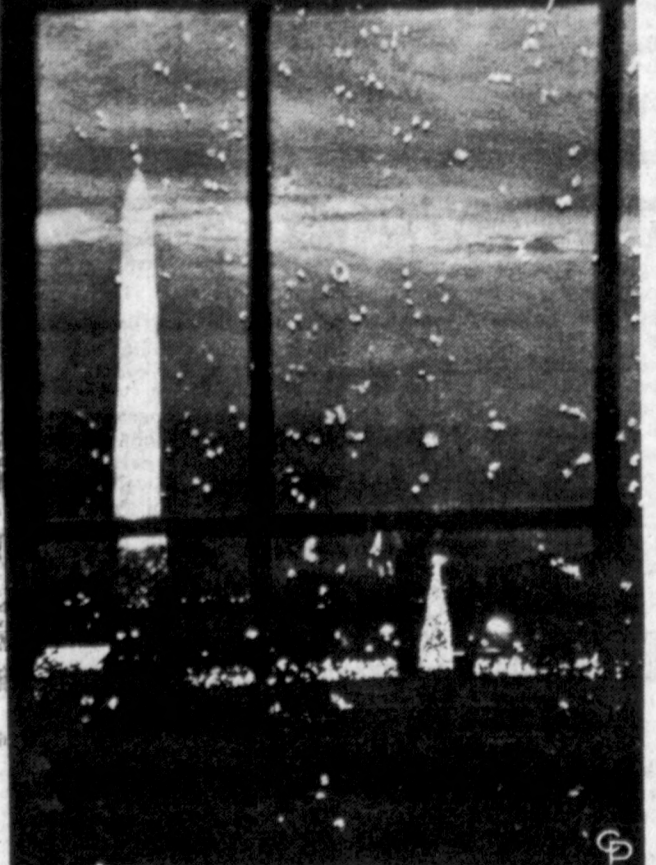

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its Christmas dinner and party at the Murray Woman's Club House on Thursday, December 19, at six-thirty o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Odelle Vance, president, presided at the short business meeting. It was announced that a few of the club's Christmas cakes may still be purchased from Mrs. Marjorie Huie at the Bank of Murray.

The club welcomed one new member, Mrs. Hazel Tutt, who has returned to Murray to live. She was a former member of the club.

Mrs. Nancy Morey was a guest of the club. The club enjoyed exchanging twenty-five cent Christmas gifts following the dinner. Hostesses for the dinner party were Mrs. Linna Warren, Mrs. Pauline Langston, and Mrs. Marion Bailey.

About 16 million immigrants landed at Ellis Island before the reception center was closed in 1954.

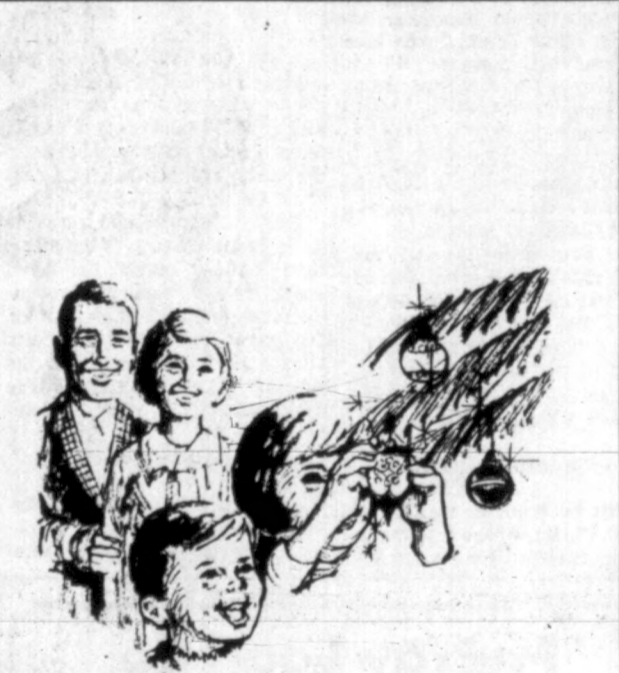

THE FIRST FAMILY'S VIEW from the East Room of the White House is of the Washington Monument and the National Christmas Tree. Lights on the window are reflections from Christmas decorations inside.

CHRISTMAS IS A NICE WARM FEELING

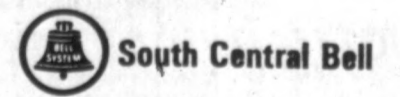

It's holly on the mantelpiece, and candles in the window, and homemade cookies in the cupboard.

Christmas is a tree that's shiny and beautiful because somebody took the time to make it that way.

Christmas is a child, flushed and laughing, in a tangle of toys under that same tree. It's the sleepy Santa Claus who assembled a tricycle, or a dollhouse, so carefully in the middle of the night. It's a mother who's genuinely delighted with a lumpy, hand-woven purple-and-green potheroler.

Christmas is staying in touch with old friends and sharing good things with new ones. It's the same every year, and it's different every year.

Christmas is loving. That's what it's all about.

Boating

By JACK WOLSTON

NEW YORK (UPI) — The largest and most powerful outboard motor now made for pleasure boats is rated at 125 horsepower — but it's not the largest in the world. Apparently the record at the moment goes to a 20-foot tall, 16-cylinder motor that is rated at 500 horsepower. The gargantuan piece of machinery swings a propeller 5½-foot in diameter.

The massive unit is presently undergoing initial operating tests at Stewart & Stevenson Services, Inc., in Houston, Tex. However, this diesel unit is not for pleasure boaters. It is destined for service in the lead barge of a large "river barge tow" and will be used for special steering and handling operations.

The "tow" will consist of a series of large river barges lashed together and covering an area 120 feet wide and nearly 1,200 feet in length — an area larger than that covered by four football fields.

The power unit is remotely controlled from the wheelhouse of a powerful river pushboat, about 1,100 feet from the lead barge. Remote controls allow the entire 12-ton unit to be raised, lowered, rotated through 180 degrees in either direction, started, stopped, speeded up or slowed down from the pushboat wheelhouse.

Interesting exhibits seen at the current National Boat Show at New York City's Coliseum:

A water converter, claimed to be the world's smallest, that can be installed on any boat that has at least a 15-horsepower inboard engine with a six kilowatt generator. Weighing 105 pounds, the unit installed measures 17 inches wide, 19½ inches long and 15½ inches high. The manufacturer (A&P) claims it converts sea water into fresh water (as much as eight gallons an hour) that is "better than what comes from the tap at home."

A new 60 watt radiotelephone with five crystal-controlled channels to make it effective for either ship-to-shore or ship-to-ship use. Produced at the factory to meet FCC frequency standards, the new radio can be installed without delay and without special knowledge, according to the manufacturer (Raytheon). It can also be used as a loud hailer simply by adding an exterior speaker as an accessory.

The first non-metallic propellers for outboards. They are made of polycarbonate resin and, according to the manufacturer (Columbian Bronze) are the result of 12 years of propeller research. The wheels defect slightly for greater efficiency under start-up or heavy operating loads yet return to design pitch for regular cruising. They carry a lifetime warranty against blade breakage.

A one-man car-top boat loader, a combination hoist and carrier that fits on top of any car from a Volkswagen up. According to the exhibitor (Goodhouse Enterprises), one person can hook up the sling, crank away at the 250-pound capacity winch, swing the boat onto the rack atop the car, snap the tie-downs and be ready to ride.

A new steering indicator for offshore yachtsmen (Brooks and Gatehouse of England). With it, the navigator sets the desired course on a master unit near the chart table. In the cockpit the helmsman reads a simple indicator dial with a needle that swings left or right of the lubber-line up to 45 degrees. It is said to reduce helmsman error and fatigue on long, hard watches.

MOTA HURT MONTREAL 275 — Manny Mota, one of the Montreal Expos first draft choices, has suffered an elbow injury that will require surgery, the club announced Monday. Doctors feel that Mota's injury is not serious and the Expos expect him to be in pre-season training camp.

Call Early During Holidays Manager Cautions Today

That "Merry Christmas" you plan to telephone Aunt Elvira on Christmas may get through quicker if you call early, R. K. Carpenter, Manager of South Central Bell said today.

"We're expecting a record 33-00 calls to be initiated in the Murray Area," he said. The increase will be partly due to telephone users here dialing many of their own long distance calls for the first time at Christmas, Mr. Carpenter added.

Each year, more and more calls are made at Christmas as more people own more phones and make use of them, he said. This nationwide pattern will account for some of the heavy Christmas telephone traffic.

Ninety-one operators will be serving Murray on December 25 to handle Christmas calls, Mr. Carpenter said. Even so some calls made at peak rush hours could be delayed.

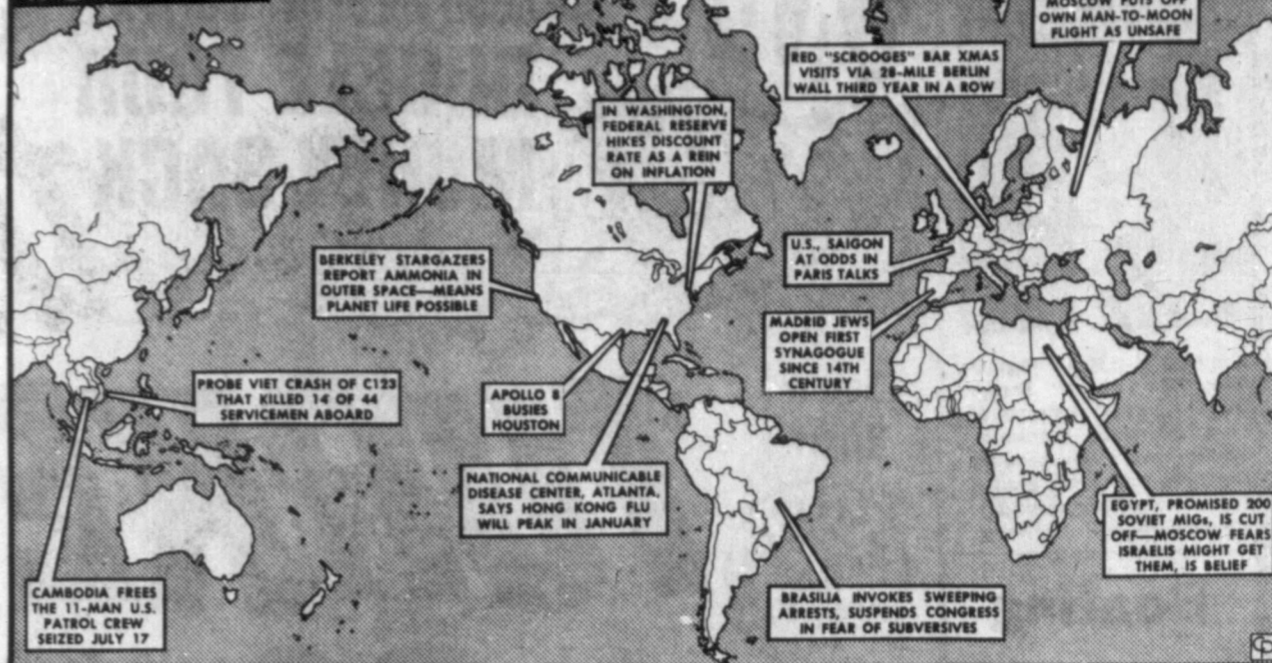

Mr. Carpenter suggested that you call early in the morning or mid-afternoon and escape the peak hours of 9:30 a.m. until noon and 5:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m.

Dial direct whenever possible. Calling by number also saves time by eliminating a call to Directory Assistance.

Telephone numbers in distant cities can be obtained in advance of Christmas day by dialing Directory Assistance in that city. Just dial "1", the area code and the number 555-1212. Although our operator asks for your telephone number, there is no charge for this service.

If your number doesn't answer, place the call again later. This is better than waiting for the operator to try the call, as you

WORLD WEEK

Another Columbus First: Introduced Cocoa Beans

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans are a candy-loving people and their per capita consumption of sweets is among the world's largest. Of a variety of confections, the products made of chocolate seem to be favored.

The story of where chocolate comes from and how it is made into a confectionary is a fascinating one.

Cacao (pronounced ca-cow) is the Spanish word usually accepted as the name for the chocolate tree and its beans—though the English version cocoa, is commonly used.

Columbus first brought cocoa beans back to Spain from the New World, where chocolate was the royal drink of the Aztecs, and the Incas of Peru.

A later Spanish explorer, Hernando Cortez, introduced chocolate as a hot beverage, sweetening it with cane sugar and vanilla.

The drink soon became a favorite with the Spanish court and eventually spread, first to France, then to England and the rest of Europe.

A pioneer in the introduction of chocolate into the United States was Domingo Ghirardelli, a merchant of Italian ancestry, who came to the New World and settled in Peru.

Enticed by the Gold Rush of 1848, Ghirardelli went to San Francisco and set up a store to supply gold miners with flour, lard and biscuits. But he also put on sale a product he had found in ancient Lima—chocolate—and by the 1860s was selling it almost exclusively.

Year by year, the Ghirardelli business grew, and a series of red brick buildings near San Francisco Bay became its factory headquarters. Today, the original factory is gone, but visitors to San Francisco can delight in a miniature chocolate factory which has been installed on the premises, where the various steps of chocolate-making may be seen and sampled.

Across the Bay, in Oakland, the company processes its chocolate products in a modern, automated plant.

Missionaries Appointed — SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — The Assemblies of God appointed 62 foreign and 42 home missionaries in 1967, bringing the totals to 933 overseas and 334 home workers, according to figures released at headquarters here.

Indonesians Take Pride In Their Batik

DJAKARTA (UPI)—Modern textile factories manufacture imitation batik in large quantities and sell it for low prices.

But the artisans who carefully draw by hand traditional batik patterns according to techniques 1,500 years old do not worry about cheap competition.

"People who care about batik know the difference," one of Java's 12,500 batik producers said. "They are willing to pay higher prices for the real thing."

But what batik makers do worry about is the availability and prices of the raw materials they use to make the gaily colored sarongs of Indonesia's equatorial islands.

Indonesia's batik industry must import cotton, a finely woven cotton fabric, and dyes from abroad. But foreign exchange is short in Indonesia, and this pinches the industry.

Batik makers currently are using about 3 million yards of cambrics every month to make 800,000 pieces of stamped batik and 400,000 pieces of the more costly hand-drawn batik.

Only about 2 to 3 per cent of Indonesia's batik is exported for sale in foreign countries.

Hand drawn batik sells for as much as $80 for one piece, enough for the dress. Stamped batik may be priced for less than $1 per piece.

How It's Done In making hand drawn batik, the artisan draws the pattern on cloth with molten wax poured through a funnel with a thin spout, called a tjanting.

The cloth is dipped into boiling dyes to produce on the non-waxed parts the distinctive and basic batik colors of brown and blue-black. The wax then is scraped away, leaving two-tone batik.

To produce additional colors, the process is repeated with other dyes.

Wax batik, the oldest style, dates back to the 4th or 5th centuries, when it was made only by women of noble birth in Java. Marriages consummated outside feudal circles gradually spread the art of hand batik.

Holiday Fare To Serve On Special Occasions

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

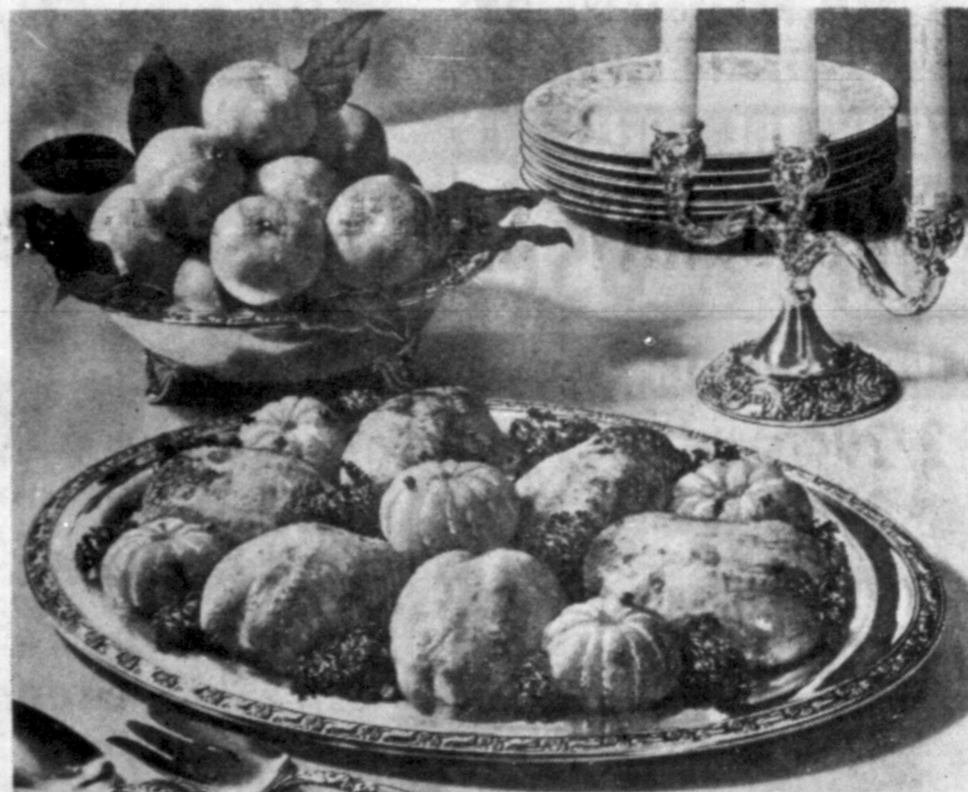

GRANDMA will remember way back when a bright, round juicy orange or a tangy tangerine tucked in the Christmas stocking was a fabulous treat. Hard-to-get fruits in those days, they came from faraway places and were prized and savored as luxury fare.

Citrus fruit is still popular... but it's no longer rare. Thanks to modern methods of refrigeration, production and transport, oranges and tangerines stack up at supermarkets, adding their glorious golden color to fruit displays.

They are no longer exotic enough for Christmas stockings but with the holidays coming along, you can savor their flavor in other ways. Today's succulent entrée, Stuffed Chicken Breasts with Spiced Tangerines is superb. For dessert: Light and luscious Fresh Orange Chiffon Pie. And, since the mood today is nostalgia, our third recipe—as delicious now as it was when Grandma's Mother made it—old-fashioned Southern Sweet Potato Pie.

STUFFED CHICKEN BREASTS WITH SPICED WHOLE TANGERINES

6 chicken breasts (about 1 1/2 pounds each) boned Salt and pepper 2 tablespoons minced fresh onion 4 tablespoons butter or margarine 1/2 cup boiling water 1/2 (8-ounce) package stuffing mix Whole Tangerines Cloves Sprinkle insides of chicken breasts with salt and pepper. Sauté onion in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until tender; remove from heat. Add boiling water. Lightly stir in stuffing mix. Top each chicken breast with an equal amount of stuffing. Fasten with skewers. Sprinkle outside with additional salt; place on rack in baking pan.

Melt remaining butter or margarine; brush over chicken. Bake in 350 F. oven 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Place under broiler to brown and crisp skin, if desired.

Served. Serve with tangerines studded with cloves. Serves 6.

FRESH ORANGE CHIFFON PIE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine 1/2 cup cold water 1/2 cup sugar 1 tablespoon grated orange rind 1 1/2 cups fresh orange juice 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

In a saucepan, sprinkle gelatine on cold water to soften. Place gelatine mixture over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatine dissolves. Add 1/2 cup sugar, orange rind and juice; stir until sugar dissolves. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat thickened orange gelatine until light; fold in whipped cream.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; add 1/4 cup sugar and beat until stiff peaks form.

Fold orange-cream mixture and orange sections into egg whites. Spoon into baked pie shell. Chill until set.

SOUTHERN SWEET POTATO PIE

2 cups mashed hot sweet potatoes 2 tablespoons butter or margarine 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves 3 eggs, slightly beaten 1 cup milk 9-inch unbaked pastry shell

Mix together sweet potatoes, butter and lemon rind; stir in sugar, cinnamon, salt, ginger and cloves. Mix in eggs and milk. Pour into pastry shell.

Bake in 400 F. oven 40 to 50 minutes or until silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serves 6 to 8.

FOR VERY SPECIAL occasions, cloud-light, luscious dessert: Fresh Orange Chiffon Pie.

Will Ancient Ginkgo Trees Replace Elms?

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Written Especially for Central Press and The Newspaper

MEET A NEW-OLD TREE that is fast gaining popularity in many sections of the United States: the Ginkgo. Perhaps it will some day replace many of our diseased elms, victims of an unchecked blight.

The tree is a conversation piece at the moment, like a rare antique. If you don't have one in your yard, one of these days someone will spark the desire to plant this tree called the oldest botanical growth in our civilization.

Dinosaurs and Ginkgos have something in common — age. Botanists estimate the tree grew 200 million years ago. The monsters of another age nibbled the tree's lacy, fan-shaped leaves. Earliest man must have sniffed the odoriferous fruit of the female trees.

WHILE many prehistoric plants died out, and most others were modified drastically through the ages, the Ginkgo biloba not only survived the centuries, it changed very little.

Until recently, an erroneous impression prevailed that the tree was tropical, would not survive north of the Mason-Dixon line. But such is not the case. This reporter has checked Ginkgo trees growing in many parts of the country, where the winters are cold. The trees survive without injury.

In autumn, the heart-shaped foliage turns a bright canary-gold much like the aspens of the Rockies.

THE PREHISTORIC Ginkgos of North America left at least one beautiful legacy in what is now the Ginkgo Petrified Forest in the state of Washington. Remains of these trees, buried eons ago under lava, have turned into gemlike stone.

The one objection to the ginkgo is the smelly problem of the fruit of the female tree that has fouled the air for 200 million years. But now science says it has the problem licked.

Ginkgo trees (like holly and some other species) are either classed as male or female. The female has an evil-smelling fruit in the autumn that suggests a combination of burnt caramel and stale cabbage. But now botanists have developed a spray which makes the trees drop their small fruit buds in spring. If your Ginkgo is a male tree, there is no trouble. But if the fruit buds develop in the spring, you know you have a female tree, and unless you want the fruit to develop for its own odorous, the spraying must be resorted to at the proper time.

The fruit encloses a kernel, which is roasted and eaten as a delicacy in the Orient. An ancient Chinese herb book recommends it as treatment for tumors as well. But the National Cancer Institute, investigating the Ginkgo in its plant research program, discounts any curative powers.

NO KNOWN Ginkgos now grow in the wild. In other words, you won't roam a woods, anywhere in the nation, and find a Ginkgo. Their preservation is attributed to Chinese Buddhist priests and monks. The tree was considered sacred in China and Japan, and today's oldest specimens are found near temples. Travelers took the Ginkgo, which means "silver fruit" in Chinese, to Europe in the 18th century, and to the U.S. somewhat later. The many Ginkgo trees in some midwestern areas today are attributed to seamen who first brought the tree from some distant Asiatic port.

THE GINKGO is the authentic "missing link" tree. The resemblance of its leaves to maidenhair fern gives it the English name of maidenhair tree. Botanists believe the leaf is one of the missing links between ferns and flowering plants, and put the Ginkgo in a class by itself (Ginkgoaceae) because no other plant has similar botanical characteristics. The fine textured wood of the tree is used to make chess boards and chess men in China, but in America the Ginkgo is so privileged that it is never used commercially.

It is a hardy tree, found more in China and in people's yards. Perhaps the next decade will see it replacing the elms laid low by blight.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
Southern States Industrial Council

A TEAM OF PRACTICAL MEN

The Cabinet selected by Richard Nixon gives promise of being a sound and conservative body. Competence is the hallmark of the President-elect's choices. In addition, the Cabinet members are men who are proud of America's free enterprise society and aren't interested in imposing some new, radical design on the Republic.

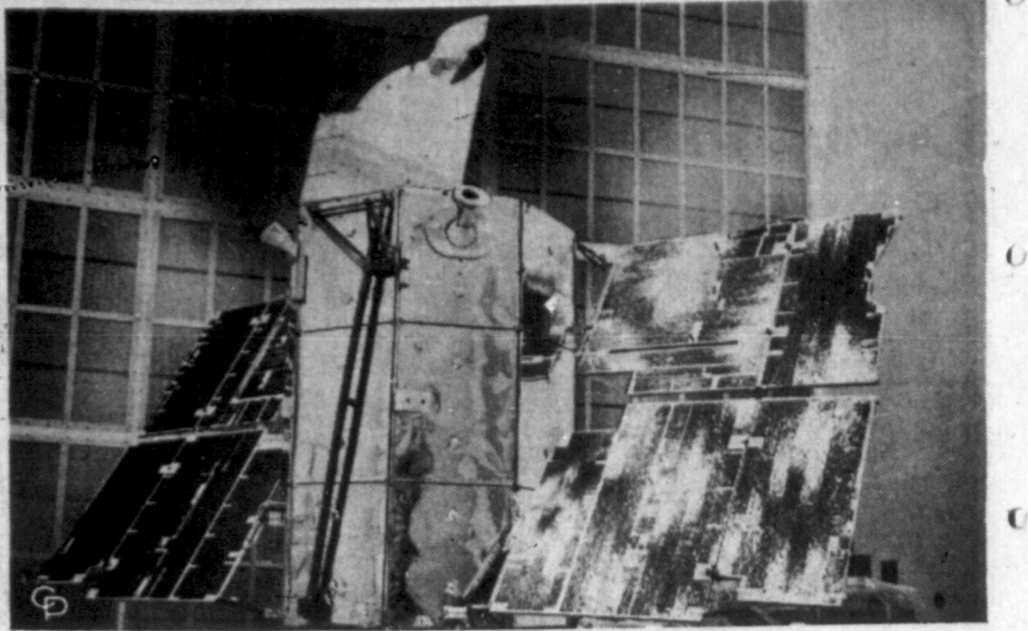

William P. Rogers, the Secretary of State-designate, is well known to the public, having served as Attorney General in the Eisenhower administration. He isn't an old State Department hand, however; thus, he is in an excellent position to reform the department, rooting out the defeatists who have been so influential in policy-making. Hopefully, Mr. Rogers will be able to point the department in new directions. For example, he will be in a position to junk the absurd and hurtful policies of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations towards the progressive, Europeanized states of Southern Africa.

Malvin R. Laird, the Secretary of Defense-designate, will be the first member of Congress to serve as boss of the Pentagon. He will have the important task of eliminating the enormous bureaucracy Robert S. McNamara created in the Office of the Secretary of Defense. He also will be able to restore strategic planning to military professionals, which was usurped by the McNamara "whis kids," and reestablish good relations with the House and Senate.

Among the most important jobs in the Cabinet is Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. David M. Kennedy, the Secretary-designate, is especially well prepared. He is an eminently successful banker who has the respect of financial leaders. Mr. Kennedy is on record as urging fiscal integrity and sound economic measures. He also is keenly aware of the financial management of the government in recent years. In an address to the American Bankers Association last April, Mr. Kennedy declared: "It is the eleventh hour — indeed almost past time for us as a nation to put our financial affairs in order. If we are to be the true leader of the free world, we must at all times project the soundness of our currency. There must be unqualified confidence in the strength of the dollar at home and abroad. "It is very reassuring to know that the new Secretary of the Treasury is a man of conservative judgment.

Working closely with Mr. Kennedy will be Maurice H. Stans, another former Eisenhower aide, who will be Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Stans, who had a Horatio Alger type rise from poverty to wealth, is absolutely solid on basic economic philosophy. He believes in thrift, balanced budgets and reduced government spending. "The New Economics," he wrote in 1962 is "the false theory of spending ourselves into prosperity." Southerners are especially proud and pleased as a result of the appointment of Winton M. Blount of Alabama as Postmaster General. Mr. Blount, who heads a great construction firm, is a symbol of progress in this region. He has the management skill needed to reform the Post Office Department. This is a major task, for every phase of American life and business depends on efficient delivery of the mail. If anyone can straighten out the inefficient Post Office Department, Mr. Blount is the man.

TWO-TON STARGAZER—The two-ton, $92 million Orbiting Astronomical Observatory (shown with its solar panels extended) was fired from Cape Kennedy into a circular orbit 480 miles out, where it will observe the invisible ultraviolet light streaming from young stars. It is the U.S. heaviest and most complex orbiting observatory.

John N. Mitchell, who has been selected as Attorney General, is another self-made man of outstanding ability. While his personal views on crime are not recorded, he managed Mr. Nixon's campaign which stressed the "law and order" theme. It is logical to conclude that he will work closely with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to close the gaps in the control of subversives, to crack down on the drug problem, and to end the reign of terror launched by hard-core leftists and Black Power advocates.

The choice of Clifford M. Hardin as Secretary of Agriculture is another welcome selection. Dr. Hardin, who has been serving as the Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, is on record as understanding the big chances taking place on America's farms. Speaking in Omaha in 1967, Dr. Hardin predicted "larger farm units, fewer farms, fewer people employed in commercial agriculture and the continued substitution of capital expenditures for labor." This is a realistic attitude. Had recent Secretaries of Agriculture taken such a view, America's farm scene would be much healthier today.

It was also good to hear the new Secretary of Labor, George Schultz, quoted in the news the other day as saying he is opposed to strikes by public employees — one of the sore spots in the country right now.

Europe's Oldest Circus Is On Its Way Out

By BARRY JAMES

MADRID (UPI)—The days of the Circo Price, the oldest circus in Europe, are numbered.

In two years' time, the lease of the Price—Spaniards pronounce it Pree-thay—will run out, and a bank already has laid claim to its site in the heart of Madrid.

The show which has amused millions of young Madrilenians over the generations was founded 109 years ago by an Englishman, Thomas Price.

The circus started as a roving performance under canvas. In the 1870s, British equestrian William Parish, who married Price's adopted daughter, built the theater which still houses the show.

Legend has it that when the circus was in financial trouble soon after moving into its permanent home, an anonymous donor spared a life-saving check into Parish's hand in gratitude for the happy afternoons he had spent watching the show during his childhood.

But there are no expectations that another donor will arrive to save the elegant old Price building in the Plaza del Rey, right in the center of Madrid's banking and commercial district.

Spawmed Stars Many are the stars of the big circuses in the United States, Latin America and Europe who got their start up the ladder of fame in the Price.

One such star is the trapeze artist Pinito del Oro, a gypsy who learned her trade on a clothes line strung between two Madrid apartment buildings.

The American entertainer Josephine Baker used to be a frequent performer at the BARCELONA, Spain—From Gothic to Gaudi—that's the best way to describe the architecture of Barcelona, Spain's second city. Indeed, one of the pleasures of a visit to this port is to discover its interesting Gothic quarter and to study the fantasies of the Catalan architect named Antonio Gaudi.

Strolling is a popular pastime in Barcelona and examples of both modern and medieval architecture are conveniently located near the center of town. The Ramblas is the pulse of the city—a long, tree-lined boulevard with flower, book and bird stalls and convenient restaurants. Fixed us a turkey sandwich yesterday and was going to heat some water for a cup of hot tea. Put the tea kettle on one eye and turned on another. Anybody could make a mistake like that. Wife finds it and moves the tea kettle over to the eye that was hot.

Key Bassell, day desk clerk at the Holiday Inn, filled with the Spirit of Christmas, comes up with the following: It's almost Christmas, the air is clear, the streets are crowded with laughter and cheer...

Let's not forget the boys in war who may never get to see home anymore, lets keep our hearts and minds open wide and let the meaning of Christmas inside.

Turn away from our troubles, worries and cares and think of the joy that is nestled there, and think of how Merry Christmas can be, if we think of others before we think of me.

We are convinced that most good works, art, writing, creativity of any kind, comes from inner inspiration. A person cannot just sit down and write a poem, he has to inspire. A painter cannot just sit down and paint, he must be inspired.

Mother, may I go swimming. Yes my darling daughter, Hang your clothes on a Hickory Limb. But don't go near the water.

That's an old limerick that just popped into my mind. Probably one of the first we learned.

One of our Moly's died. This is one time we are not to blame, we think. The Moly is a black goldfish and this particular one was much smaller than any of the others.

Lady the dog was lying in front of the gas log bathed in heat and sleepiness she snuggled up our presence in the room with an occasional thump of her tail.

In weather like this down in Alabama, they used to say "It was cold as all git out."

Good program on the ancient Assyrians yesterday on TV. We are an amateur student of ancient history with emphasis on amateur.

After weeks of waiting, we missed the National Geographic show on the big lizards. They are announced so far ahead of time, we forget them by the time they arrive.

Fraternity Thinks It Is Better To Give Than Receive

"More blessed to give than to receive..." Men of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at Murray State University have obviously grasped the meaning of the oft-quoted Biblical passage.

It was late at night when the urgent call for blood came from Dr. Murray-Calloway County Hospital. Individual members of the fraternity were engaged in a variety of activities from study to horseplay...

"I have been in several teaching institutions and I have never seen this much blood made available on such short notice," he added. In a letter written to Murray State University President Harry M. Sparks, Dr. Houston acknowledged the unselfishness of the fraternity men...

Blood donors from the fraternity included: Bill Howell, Memphis freshman; David Parker, Owensboro junior; Dale Strader, Calverton City sophomore; Tommy Allard, Alamo, Tenn. junior; Jeff Gagnon, Lindenwood, N. J., senior; and Rodney Watson, Kevil, senior.

Dr. Sparks' reaction to the response of the men was: "Murray State University is proud and fortunate to have young men like these on this campus. We think the others should emulate the finest in young people today, and I am personally quite proud of them."

RITES HELD

Also killed in the collision was Albert C. (Dick) Smotherman, of Hayti, Mrs. Freda Lawson's son-in-law, and a cousin of Mrs. Tommy Smotherman's husband.

Injured in the accident were Dick (Tina Sills) Smotherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sills of New Concord, and their daughter, Mrs. Freda Lawson of Portageville, Mo. Mrs. Lawson's two sons, Steve and Sammy, were in the car but were reported not injured.

Both Mrs. Smotherman and Mrs. Lawson were taken to the Crittenton Memorial Hospital, West Memphis, Ark., but Mrs. Lawson was transferred to the Memorial Hospital, Memphis.

Funeral and burial services for Mrs. Smotherman were held today in Hayti, Mo.

Mrs. Tommy Smotherman had left Sunday, December 15 to spend the week with the Allard family in Smotherman, Mo. The group was enroute to Memphis to meet Mrs. Tommy Smotherman's son, Charles of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, when the car was rammed from behind by another car, causing it to turn over and roll across the interstate highway, according to a spokesman at the Citizen's Funeral Home, West Memphis, Ark.

Survivors of Mrs. Smotherman are her husband, Tommy, two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Williams and Mrs. Peggy Prescott; four sons, Calvin Milby, Jackie, Bill, and Charles Smotherman; four sisters, Mesdames Beatrice Nance, Opal Pugh, Jewel Pugh, and Clara McAlpine; fourteen grandchildren.

The survivors of Mr. Smotherman are his wife, Mrs. Tina Sills Smotherman; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Smotherman of East Prairie, Mo.; two daughters, Mrs. Freda Portageville and Shirley of Carthageville, Mo.; four sisters, Mrs. Fay Barks and Mrs. Irene White of St. Louis, Mo., Miss Mary Smotherman and Mrs. Orvin Witt of East Prairie, Mo.; four brothers, James and Cornell of East Prairie, Mo., and Mickey of California; two grandchildren Steve and Sammy.

PUEBLO CREW

(Continued From Page 1) say on so many occasions that he never really appreciated how great it was to be an American until they had the misfortune to have been captured... those guys were simply tremendous," Bucher said.

Many of the crewmen—including two civilian technicians—yanked off the North Korean military blue overcoats in which they had spanned freedom bridge. They galloped a board helicopters that took them to Anson City where a band played "California Here I Come" and doctors checked them out on the first stop toward home and reunion with families.

Beaten And Clutched Bucher passed out to what they happily left behind—beaten with fists generally and clubs at other times. "I was hit a few times, only with fists, never with any kind of stick or club. I was kicked a few times. When you're looking down the barrel of a machine gun it's pretty difficult to defend yourself."

"There was a helluva lot more of them than there were of us. The week before last, we went through the most concentrated form of terror I have ever seen. I was not prepared mentally for the beatings that were handed out. About half of the crew was beaten last week."

"One man was hit by a four by four. But our life was not made so miserable that it was unbearable. I now feel surprisingly good shape," said the 39-year-old Pocatello, Idaho, officer whose boyhood was spent in orphanages. Their captors told them only four days ago they would be released.

The North Koreans, whose ships surrounded and shot at and then grabbed the Pueblo, kept the ship and its valuable gear. Bucher said some secret documents fell into Red hands. "We made attempts to destroy everything. Truthfully, we had not completed it," he told newsmen.

Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kuk, the North Korean negotiator known in Panmunjom as "frog face," appealed to the U.S. Gen. Gilbert Hume Woodward signed on the dotted line to free the Pueblo crewmen. "Pak is always arrogant," Woodward said later.

He described the document he signed as "the usual garbage they have been putting out." Before signing, Woodward said: "The position of the United States government with regard to the Pueblo, as consistently expressed in the negotiations at Panmunjom and in public action, has been that the ship was not engaged in illegal activity, that there is no convincing evidence that the ship at any time intruded into the territorial waters as claimed by North Korea, and that we could not do logic for actions which we did not believe took place. The document that I am going to sign was prepared by the North Koreans and is at variance with the above position. But my signature cannot and will not alter the fact."

"I will sign the document to free the crew and only to free the crew."

North Korean Gloats North Korea almost wrung its hands in glee. The official North Korean News Agency said: "The U.S. imperialists bent the knee again to the North Korean people before the world people which is a deserving punishment for their arrogant crime."

The first American they sent over the bridge was Duane Daniel Hodges, 21, of Creswell, Ore., killed in the seizure. The north Koreans, said Hodges met his death while foolishly and recklessly resisting, disobeying the order of the naval force of the north Korean Peoples Army.

That was the Red view. In Washington, the freeing of the Pueblo men brought cheers and the Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he simply could not understand how or why the Communists agreed to the "strange procedure" of accepting a worthless "apology."

President Johnson hailed the action as one that "preserved the integrity of the United States." There was no doubt it would be that kind of Christmas. "It's the best present I could ask for," said Leo McCarran in Johnstown, Pa. His son Donald, 33, was a crewman. In Carthage, Miss. Mrs. M. H. Wadley got a Sunday afternoon telephone call from the Navy that her son Kenneth, 30, was coming home. "I just kept crying the whole time the man was talking to me," she said. Bucher had one main thing on his mind. He had spent almost all his captivity in solitary confinement. He had seen

SPACECRAFT

(Continued From Page 1) burn. Once Apollo 8 gets in a moon orbit, its main engine must operate to blast them back to earth early Christmas morning. If it failed, the astronauts would be hopelessly stranded in lunar orbit.

The historic orbital reconnaissance mission run will pave the way for a landing by another American crew as early as next spring. "I'm real pleased with the way things are going so far," Lunney said. "The spacecraft seems to be going in an essentially perfect fashion."

Lunney said the astronauts "sound real good this morning" and apparently were shaking off the "celestial flu" that plagued Borman Sunday. "They seem to be pretty chipper."

One minor snag developed when telemetry data indicated a secondary coolant valve did not close properly. Lunney, however, said it did not appear serious.

At 9 a.m. EST, Apollo 8 was 188,508 miles from earth, 42,692 miles from the moon and traveling at 2,390 miles per hour. The pilots had completed more than three-quarters of man's first trip around the moon. Their speed was expected to drop to about 2,100 MPH under the drag of earth's gravity and then accelerate up to 7,000 MPH when the earth's surface comes into view.

The astronauts, if all went well, were to become the first men in the moon's gravitational field at 3:29 p.m. EST today.

Marred By Virus The flight was marred Sunday by Borman's stomach virus which left him vomiting and feverish for a time. But he appeared to have recovered by the time the astronauts presented the first of six live television shows.

However, astronaut physician Dr. Charles Berry said "There is a chance that the other two, Jim and Bill, can both come down with this. That's been our experience."

An attempt to show the earth from 140,000 miles out proved a disappointment Sunday when the astronauts encountered difficulty using a telephoto lens. The earth appeared only as a bright fuzzy blob in the picture Sunday, a marked contrast to the clarity of the interior views of the spacecraft and the astronauts floating around in side.

Borman ended the 13-minute program saying, "We're looking forward to the day after tomorrow when we'll be just 60 miles from the moon." The figure Borman used was nautical miles.

To Orbit Tuesday If the Apollo 8 flight goes according to schedule, the astronauts will circle the moon 10 times Tuesday, then burn their main engine again Christmas day to blast out of the moon's gravity and head back to the earth for a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Friday.

Navy Meteorologist Lt. Cmdr. Neil O'Connor, on the recovery carrier Yorktown, said Sunday he expects heavy showers, five-foot swells and wind gusts up to 28 m. p. h. when the astronauts plunge into the ocean.

O'Connor said the visibility would be limited but it should not hinder the recovery operations. He said the Yorktown did well in a practice mission in 14 foot swells and six-mile per hour winds earlier this month. Borman's sickness was diagnosed by Dr. Berry as a "24-hour gastroenteritis" characterized by vomiting, diarrhea, chills fever, and a head ache.

The astronauts were advised late Sunday night of the release of the Pueblo prisoners from North Korea. "Wonderful," Borman replied. Anders, who had promised to deliver a special message to Santa Claus for his son Greg, ory, 6, reported Sunday "We saw him Santa earlier this morning and he was heading your way."

Lovell took advantage of the outer space television show to wish his mother, Mrs. Blanche Lovell of Edgewater Beach, Fla., a "Happy birthday." She was 73 Sunday.

Accident Is Reported

A two car accident on Highway 121, Coldwater Road, in front of the John Nanny home, occurred Sunday morning at 3:30 p.m., according to the report filed by Deputy Sheriff Gene Parker. No injuries were reported.

Cars involved were a 1968 Plymouth four door sedan owned by James Dixon and driven by Darrel G. Dixon of Ridgway, Ill., and White Hall, Murray State University, and a 1963 Oldsmobile four door hardtop driven by Dwight Lynn Hale of Murray Route One. Parker said that Dixon was coming toward Murray and Hale was going west when the accident occurred. Dixon told Parker that evidently he must have gone to sleep and the front end of his car hit the left side of the Hale car knocking it into the Nanny yard. The Dixon car was on the north side of road after the collision, Parker said.

Hale who drives a haulway for Garland Used Cars had just returned to Murray with his truck and was enroute to his home in his car when the accident occurred. Employee Dishonesty NEW YORK—Although American business suffers astronomical losses estimated at upwards of $1.5 billion a year because of employee dishonesty, only about 15 to 20 per cent of business firms protect themselves against such losses by purchasing fidelity bonds, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

Packaged Insurance NEW YORK—More and more families and firms are insuring their properties under policies in which many coverages formerly purchased individually are now combined in a single "package"—a savings of up to 25 per cent, the Insurance Information Institute reports.
