Dr. James T. Hayes, Murray Professor, Publishes Text

By Karen Label

On January 18, Allen & Unwin, Ltd., of London, will release a new book written by Dr. James T. Hayes, District Professor of English at Murray State University. "The Uses of the Novel," a text for the classroom, explains that the four major kinds of writing are novels, memoirs, essays, and descriptions. Each of the four is discussed as if the student were writing one of these forms. The result is a four-volume series of classroom volumes in the "Classics," "Memoirs," "Essays," and "Descriptions" series.

One of the chapters in the book, "The Uses of the Novel," contains a comprehensive look at the short story. "It is a_\

Murray State Herd Named Top Producer

The registered, all-time top producer of registered Jersey cows in Kentucky is Murray State University's herd. Murray State's herd of 66 head, owned by the university, has produced 301 pounds of butterfat per cow each year for 11 years. During the first 11 years of production, the herd has produced 8,012,000 pounds of butterfat. The herd is named the "Murray State University Jersey Herd." Mrs. Sommers had a cholesterol study done on her cows, which indicated that her herd was the best produce in Kentucky for at least 10 years.

Dethrow had a chapter to perform. of votes, but in any political endeavor, this is a turn of events well and good. a' sa'a-a.."

The relationship here in Murray has been good between the Negro and White. Personally either man would have been acceptable to us. We feel that the black people of Murray are more considerate. We are fortunate in Murray in having several black men of our people, for the city council to have named a black man to fill this position.

In our opinion Mayor Ellis offered a good solution to the problem by saying that the council approved the request to divide the city into four wards. In this manner all Negroes who wish to vote will share in the city council, may have their name placed on the primary ballot and stand a better opportunity of winning than he now can with the city divided into only two wards.

We do not believe in discriminating against a race because of the color of their skin, and by the same token we do not believe in favoring a race because of their color.

The morning of a black man desde has been good from the black and white communities. We feel that Murray is as good as any other city in the nation that went in and then we go...marches.

Wildcats Outlast Georgia, 72-71 For Twelfth Straight

By ETU CAMER

The Associated Press

Auburn fractional, the seventh-seeded Kentucky"s (11-6) top-ranked team and No. 1 in the nation, defeated Georgia (12-7) 72-71. The Wildcats have now won 12 consecutive games and are the first team in the Southeastern Conference to win 12 straight.

The win was significant for the Wildcats as they have now clinched the SEC regular-season title, guaranteed themselves a berth in the SEC tournament, and solidified their position as one of the top teams in the country.

The victory over Georgia was a testament to the team's resilience and determination. Kentucky coach John Calipari praised his team's effort in a post-game interview: "They played hard, they played smart, and they made the right shots at the end of the game. This is a big win for us because it was a tough game against a strong team. We can't take anything for granted."

Georgia, on the other hand, was unable to capitalize on their strengths. Despite having a strong bench and a star in Georgia's own right, they were unable to overcome Kentucky's superior talent and teamwork. Georgia's coach, Tom Crean, expressed his disappointment in a press conference: "We had our chances, but the ball just didn't fall for us today. We have to move on and focus on the SEC tournament."

The SEC tournament is scheduled to begin on March 17th. Kentucky will be one of the top seeds and will have a favorable draw to advance deep into the tournament. The Wildcats are looking to make their fifth straight SEC championship and their fourth consecutive trip to the Final Four.

Overall, this was an impressive performance by Kentucky, who will continue to be one of the teams to watch as they prepare for the NCAA tournament in late March and early April. Their next game is against Dallas (12-7) on Wednesday, March 5th, at the Frank Erwin Center in Austin, Texas.
Separate bedrooms don't ruin marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBEY: How can I advise my son to accept his wife's advice that he'd be better off sleeping if he had a room of his own? He's a very good-looking boy, but he's got his way. I'll be very angry.

Dear Abbey: What is the best wedding attire? I want to appear attractive at my wedding ceremony, the bride's parents.

DEAR UNHAPPY: The only way to see what this job is really involves doing some simple research. For one thing, you have given your future four beautiful children. But, even though you're in love, you've got to know what you're doing. People are very different.

DEAR ABBEY: What is Round the Neck, Round the Neck, Men? It looks to accent winter fashions.

DEAR ABBEY: My 18-year-old niece came to my house all upset and said, 'I have a problem and I don't know what to do.' She asked if she could come and live with me. As she had taken to talking, there is something of the "martyr" in your attitude and she's too much for me to handle. Advise her parents, and let them take over.

DEAR ABBEY: My husband has three children. I knew I was fighting a losing battle, so I advised my husband, to quit fighting it, and to leave women.

DEAR ABBY: What's the year problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your mind. And if you don't like the looks of some of the company she keeps, please, Abby, try to make him see how rejected you feel. I don't like the looks of some of the company she keeps. I don't make toast soggy, don't make toast soggy, you keep the knife out of reach of children at all times.

DEAR ABBEY: After having a fight with her mother one day, my 18-year-old niece came to my house all upset and said, 'I have a problem and I don't know what to do.' She asked if she could come and live with me. As she had taken to talking, there is something of the "martyr" in your attitude and she's too much for me to handle. Today's Stock Market

NEW YORK — The stock market fell to its lowest point since early November, but analysts said stocks are likely to drift upward again later this week.

In the absence of constructive legislation to stimulate the economy, many analysts expected stocks to drop steadily during the rest of the year. The Friday close of the Dow Jones average was 134.49, compared to 139.65 on March 1, 1970.

President Nixon's economic proposals, which are still being debated in Congress, are not expected to have much effect on the stock market. The New York Stock Exchange was closed today.

Midwest Policy Challenged

ROGERS' STAND TESTED

By STEWART HENLEY

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is said to be firmly convinced the Administration's stand on "bilateral" Middle East policy will soon be "revised". The new line will involve a greater emphasis on Arab nationalism and a lesser emphasis on Arab-Soviet ties.

are sections of the Great Lakes, the Ohio River, and the Mississippi, where local industry is being boosted. The proposed reopening of the port of Portland, which is being considered, is a step in the right direction.

The Port of Portland is the most important port in the world, and it is expected to become even more important in the future as the population of the Pacific Northwest grows.

The proposed reopening of the port of Portland would be a step in the right direction, but there are some problems that must be solved before it can be done.

The main problem is the lack of a new dock. The current dock is not large enough to handle the increased traffic that would result from the reopening of the port.

Another problem is the lack of a new dry dock. The current dry dock is too small to handle the large ships that would be using the port.

If these problems can be solved, the reopening of the port of Portland would be a great step forward for the Pacific Northwest.
