Death Claims Life of John H. Riley

WHARTON (T-T) — John H. Riley, 51, a prominent local banker, was found dead in his room at the Clarion Hotel early yesterday. The cause of death was not immediately known.

Riley had been active in local civic affairs and was a member of the Wharton Chamber of Commerce. He was also a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Riley is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary J. Riley, and two sons, John H. Riley Jr., and John W. Riley, both of Wharton.

Funeral services will be held today at 2 p.m. at the Wharton United Methodist Church. Interment will be in Wharton Cemetery.

Bill Banning Sex Education Classes in Hearing Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A bill that would ban sex education classes in Kentucky schools was passed by the Senate Education Committee yesterday.

The bill, sponsored by Senator John B. Johnson, would make it illegal for any school district to offer sex education classes. The bill was introduced by Representative William J. Smith, D-Frankfort, and was approved by the committee on a 4-3 vote.

Johnson said the bill is necessary to protect the moral values of young people.

Murray Students Visit TVA Youth Station Recently

WHARTON (T-T) — Why does the cat land on its feet? What kind of clocks does a cat have? What do you call the day when you can...? These and many other questions were answered by Murray University professors as they led a group of students on a tour of the TVA Youth Station.

The TVA Youth Station is located in Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area and is open to the public. The station offers educational programs and activities related to the natural environment.

Special Projects Planned by Woman's Club Board

The February meeting of the Murray Woman's Club was held Monday evening at the Murray Hotel. The meeting was attended by a large number of members.

Miss Mary Jane Smith, president of the Murray Woman's Club, said the club is planning several projects for the coming year.

The projects include a garden club, a book club, and a community service project.

Smith said the garden club will be dedicated to the care and maintenance of the club's garden, which is located on the backside of the club building.

The book club will meet monthly to discuss a selected book and will also sponsor a book sale to benefit the club.

The community service project will involve the club in various activities such as volunteering at local hospitals and nursing homes.

Other projects being considered include a chili cook-off and a bake sale to benefit the local United Way.

The club's next meeting will be held on March 15th at 7:00 pm in the Murray Hotel.

Heather Smith, president of the Murray Woman's Club, said the club is looking forward to a busy and active year.

Southern Sidelines

By DAVID MOFFITT

ATLANTA (AP) — It hadn't been 21 years since the Mississippi Rebels played their last home game. It took nearly that long to win a Southern Conference game. How the Rebels managed to beat the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets 84-66 on Saturday was anybody's guess.

The Rebels (13-9, 4-9) have shown signs of improvement in recent weeks, but the road to victory has been long and arduous. They had lost 10 in a row before snapping the streak with a win over the Yellow Jackets (14-7, 7-6).

“Any win on the road is huge for us,” said forward Javon Miller, who scored 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. “We’ve had a tough season so far, but this win is a step in the right direction.”

The Rebels were led by Miller, who had a double-double. Guard Jace Samuel added 19 points, while forward Sabastian Williams chipped in with 10 points and 11 rebounds.

Georgia Tech struggled throughout the game, with the Rebels taking control early and never looking back. The Yellow Jackets had no answer for Miller, who dictated the flow of the game from the start.

“I think we were just more physical today,” Miller said. “We were able to get to the rim more and get to the line. That’s something we’ve been working on, and it paid off today.”

The win was significant for the Rebels, who are still fighting for a spot in the NCAA tournament. They are currently tied for 11th place in the SEC standings and need to keep winning to stay in contention.

“We have a lot of work to do,” coach Mike White said. “But this win was a huge boost for our confidence. We’re playing better as a team, and that’s what we need to continue.”

The Rebels will travel to Alabama on Tuesday, with the Cotton Bowl in their sights. They are one win away from a potential bid to the SEC tournament, which would secure them a spot in the NCAA tournament.

“We have to keep playing hard and competing,” White said. “If we do that, we’ll have a shot at a bid. We’re not done fighting yet.”

The game was part of a weekend of basketball action in the SEC, with several key contests taking place. The Rebels will need to win their remaining games to have any chance of making the tournament.

“We have some tough games left,” White said. “But we’re ready to attack them with the same energy we showed against Georgia Tech.”

The Rebels’ next game is Friday, when they face the University of Tennessee. The Volunteers are currently in the top 10 of the SEC standings and will be a tough test for the Rebels.

“Tennessee is a talented team,” White said. “But we’re up for the challenge. We have to play our best game to have any shot at a win.”

The Rebels are currently 9-6 in SEC play and hope to continue their winning streak against the Volunteers. For now, they will focus on the task at hand and see where it takes them on the SEC tournament bracket.

“The season is far from over,” White said. “But we’re excited about what we’ve accomplished so far. We have a great group of players, and we’re ready to keep fighting.”

The Rebels will need to keep improving if they want to make a run at the NCAA tournament. But for now, they are just happy to have won a much-needed victory.

“It’s been a long season,” Miller said. “But we’re finally starting to show some signs of life. We’ve got to keep building on this win and see where it takes us.”

The Rebels will need to keep playing well if they want to make a run at the NCAA tournament. But for now, they are just happy to have won a much-needed victory.

Kids can study with noise!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Generation Gap, Oct. 20.

...the two of us could study with all kinds of racket going on around them! They are old enough to know how they study to their advantage, for it assures them peace of mind and a feeling of security to a person.

I say, if you want to study in a boiler factory, let them-if they could study with all kinds of racket going on around them!

Abigail

-- Abby, Maryland

DEAR ABBY: It comes to this. I have a friend who works in a noisy environment most of the time. She is a writer who has a very active mind that works on her at all times. She has a very noisy environment of too many people, which is all very distracting. We can "turn it off" in our own minds. I have a very hard time doing it. I get noise by the way. I am not a straight student. A student.

DEAR ABBY: As the lady who wrote and asked if you thought her kids could really study with the noise of a television in the room, I can tell you that if there is no other noise, they will try. I have tried to study in a quiet place, I would never get my work done because I'd be spending all my time trying to hear what everyone else was doing. This is also why I can't listen to music and work. My mind is so involved in something else.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in response to a letter that other noise it works for me. I say, let kids study whatever atmosphere they want to study in. As a woman who has studied with all kinds of racket going on around them, I can tell you that if there is no other noise, they will try to study in silence and I can't do it. I am a straight student.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the federal office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I used Schedule F to figure out my January and February income. Should I be sending that to the IRS now?

A) You can wait 90 days after the due date of your return to send in any补充 tax returns. However, if you are subject to self-employment tax, make your payments on time or you will be charged interest and penalties.

Q) I'm an attorney and have a home in another state. Can I file a 1040 as a resident of my home state and pay taxes on that state's income?

A) You must file your federal income tax return as a resident of the state where you have your domicile. If you have a place of business or other income-producing activity in another state, you may also have nexus in that state and be subject to that state's income tax.

Q) I'm being audited for 1961. Can I still get a refund from 1960?

A) You cannot get a refund for a tax year once you have filed your return for that year. However, you may still receive a refund if you have overpaid taxes in prior years. You can file amended returns to claim refunds for previous years.

Q) The IRS sent me a 1099 for $10,000. I only worked for $5,000 this year. Can I still use the 1099 for my tax return?

A) You can use the 1099 to prove your income for the year, even if it is greater than the amount you actually earned. However, you should report only the income that is correctly stated on the 1099.

Q) What is the difference between a tax deduction and a tax credit?

A) A tax deduction reduces the amount of your taxable income, while a tax credit reduces the amount of tax you owe. Deductions are generally more beneficial than credits, as they provide a dollar-for-dollar reduction in taxes owed.

Q) How do I claim my children as dependents on my tax return?

A) To claim a child as a dependent, you must file a joint return with the child or be married to the child's parent. The child must be a U.S. citizen, national, or resident alien and must meet certain requirements for age and education.

Q) I'm a retired teacher. Can I claim my spouse as a dependent if she is also retired and lives with me?

A) If you file a joint return, you can claim your spouse as a dependent regardless of whether she is retired or not. However, if you file separately, she may not be considered your dependent if she earned income in excess of the threshold for single filers.

Q) I have a new Social Security number. Can I use that number on my tax return?

A) Yes, you should use your new Social Security number on your tax return. However, you should also give your old Social Security number to the IRS so they can update their records.

Q) I have a business name, but I'm not a corporation. Do I need to file an information return for my business?

A) If you are a sole proprietor or a partnership, you do not need to file an information return for your business. However, if you are a corporation, you may need to file an information return if you have certain types of income or deductions.

Q) I'm a freelancer and I don't have a mailing address. Can I still file a tax return?

A) Yes, you can file a tax return using your Social Security number and your personal identification number (PIN) even if you do not have a mailing address.

Q) I'm self-employed and I'm not sure if I need to file a tax return. What should I do?

A) If you earn $400 or more from self-employment or if you had $400 or more in gross income from one trade or business, you are required to file a tax return. You should also file a return if you had any gains or losses from investments.

There is a majority in the cabinet to do the Agran acted. But at least one cabinet member said he was against the court ruling in the Agran case, but hope there will be a majority in Parliament to uphold the court decision. The problem is whether the majority of cabinet members would support the court decision or not.

They said that talks between Interior Minister Moshe Shapira and other cabinet ministers had made "clear there is a majority in the cabinet and in Parliament to nullify the verdict," and that the court ruling has "caused much distress in the country, particularly in the Jewish sector." The cabinet minister added that if the verdict was upheld, it would "cause a lot of trouble." The court ruling last Friday in the Agran case was described as "infractions of equal laws." The court ruled that the verdict against Agran, who was not present in court, was not valid and that the decision was nullified.

Two Veteran Hollywood Wardrobes Become Tailors For U.S. Presidents

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Board found mortgage rates in 1970 so high that it was expected they would climb even higher in 1971, and they were not expected to reach even the normality of the 1950's during the decade by 1980.

Interest rates on adjustable rate mortgages are still very high, and are expected to remain so for the near future. The Federal Home Loan Board has predicted that mortgage rates will increase in 1971, and may remain high throughout the 1970's.

The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Board, Mr. M. M. Dimmock, has stated that mortgage rates are expected to increase by at least 1.5 percentage points during 1971, and will probably remain at the high level of 8% or more until the middle of the 1970's.

Mr. Dimmock has also predicted that mortgage rates will remain high throughout the 1970's, and that the Federal Home Loan Board will continue to provide financial assistance to home buyers in order to make it possible for them to purchase homes at reasonable prices.

High interest rates mar housing outlook

In addition, rising interest rates are expected to make home buying more expensive for many families. The Federal Home Loan Board has predicted that the cost of home mortgages will increase by at least 1.5 percentage points during 1971, and may remain high throughout the 1970's.

The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Board, Mr. M. M. Dimmock, has stated that the increase in mortgage rates is due to the high cost of funds for the banks, and that the Federal Home Loan Board will continue to provide financial assistance to home buyers in order to make it possible for them to purchase homes at reasonable prices.

What Will Happen To The Two Great Communist Empires In The '70s?

The Soviet Union was the leading nation of the 20th century. The world's great power, the site of two world wars, and the center of a series of political and economic upheavals, the Soviet Union has emerged as a major player in world affairs.

In the 1970s, the Soviet Union and China are facing a new set of challenges. The Soviet Union is trying to maintain its position as a superpower, while China is seeking to assert its influence in Asia.

The Soviet Union has a vast population and a strong military, but it is facing economic and political problems. The United States and Western Europe are its chief rivals, and the two superpowers are locked in a Cold War.-

China, on the other hand, is a much smaller country with a much smaller population. But it has a strong military and a strong economy, and it is seeking to assert its influence in Asia and the Pacific.
